

EARTHQUAKE DEAD INCINERATED

U. S. Destroyer Aids Rescue in China

PENDING long-needed repairs at the White House, President Coolidge has moved into a temporary residence in Washington. It is an exceedingly good house—much better than Mr. Coolidge as a private citizen would need or desire. Presumably, the government pays the rent. And being the President, nobody will complain.

When it is anybody else, American pseudo-democracy does not complain a lot and foolishly. We have only just begun to provide residences for our Ambassadors abroad. Hitherto, Congressmen have feared that their constituents who lived in cottages would object to an Ambassador being provided with the only sort of house in which his work can be done. So, in the pretended name of "democracy," we limited these appointments to rich men who could pay the rent themselves. Similarly, Governor Young was much praised for not encouraging an appropriation for a new governor's mansion, though the present official residence is one which no real estate agent could sell or rent to Mr. Young to live in as a private citizen. He ought not to have to live in it as governor. And we ought not to bluff ourselves into imagining it "democratic" to require him to do so.

OBJECTION was raised at Sacramento to the proposed "sponsor" bill, on the ground that it would add to the cost of primary elections by distributing at public expense a pamphlet giving a brief biography of each candidate.

What of it? If the people are to have this information, it must be at somebody's expense. And if they do not have it, they can not vote intelligently. It is decidedly to the interest of the people to pay for it themselves. Otherwise, it must be done by the candidate or by those who think it worth their while to do it for him. If this method can give us more intelligent voting, it is cheap at the price.

THE difficulty is that nothing, neither this device nor any other, can give us intelligent voting until we shorten the ballot. The present ballot is too long and anybody's intelligence to vote. The best test is for each citizen to ask himself whether he can vote intelligently. If he can not, why should his neighbor? There are certain officials that ought to be elected—in the state government, the governor and the legislature, and nothing else. When the ballot is reduced to include only these, everybody will vote it intelligently. Until then, nobody can do so.

THE New York legislature passes a resolution calling on congress to enact a law permitting the sale of wine and beer in New York.

Beyond doubt, this represents the actual desire of the majority of the people of the city of New York, and of a very considerable minority "up state." The legislators thus correctly reflected their constituents.

But why ask congress to do it? The legislature of New York, or the board of aldermen of New York city, or even the 61st district A. Smith club, have quite as much authority to enact a wine and beer law as congress has. And they have the votes to carry it, which congress has not. Why pass it to congress?

"Because," comes the immediate retort, "if the board of aldermen, or the Turn Verein, passed it, it would not be a law."

Quite so. But neither would it be a law if congress passed it.

The Oxford (England) college magazine has a more British form of the beer and wine agitation. It complains, facetiously, that not enough alcohol is consumed by the students, who go in too much for beer. "More and better wine should be drunk."

The British joke would be no joke in America. If the much-talked "beer and wine law" were ever enacted here, on the false pretense that beer and wine are not intoxicating. Decidedly, the result would be "more and better wine." You can, to be sure, get job. Real toppers prefer to do it with more neatness and dispatch. That is what whiskey, brandy, gin and rum are for. They could not be had, wine would be the next best thing. "Beer and wine" means drunk on beer, but it is a sloppy drunk, when whiskey can be had. But if the strong distilled liquors were readily suppressed, the "and wine" would come to its own.

THE wife of the Governor of Nevada was bitten by a mad cat. The news is worth a brief paragraph. The lady will take the Pasteur treatment, and nothing will happen. It is a startling, but minor incident.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN AT WUHU SAVED

American Warship Assists In Evacuation of Foreigners As Natives Riot

LOOT CUSTOMS HOUSE

Urgent Order Issued for Mobilization of Volunteer Forces in Shanghai

(By United Press)
SHANGHAI, March 9.—British reports from Wuhu today said a U. S. destroyer assisted in the evacuation of women and children when a Chinese mob rioted and looted the customs house and customs club.

Women and children were evacuated, the report said, aboard the British steamer Duttwa. The rioting was believed to have been caused by reliable reports that the Cantonese Nationalists had suffered a reverse at Tapingfu and also by distrust between the Cantonese and Marshal Chen Tiao Chuen, governor of Anhui province, who recently announced his adherence to the southern cause.

Wuhu is a large city in Anhui province, of the Yangtze river, about 60 miles up the river from Nanking.

CHINESE MOB LOOTS CUSTOMS HOUSE

HONGKONG, March 9.—A Chinese mob looted the customs house and customs club at Wuhu and foreign women and children there took refuge on steamers, British sources here reported today.

Foreign men were prepared to withdraw if necessary. Chinese soldiers commandeered the British steamer Wusung, but a destroyer intercepted the ship before it could leave the harbor, and took the ship to Hankow, where the troops were landed under naval escort.

Chinese military authorities were likewise in their attempts to suppress the rioting at Wuhu, the reports said. The city was captured by the Cantonese several weeks ago.

SHANGHAI VOLUNTEERS ORDERED MOBILIZED

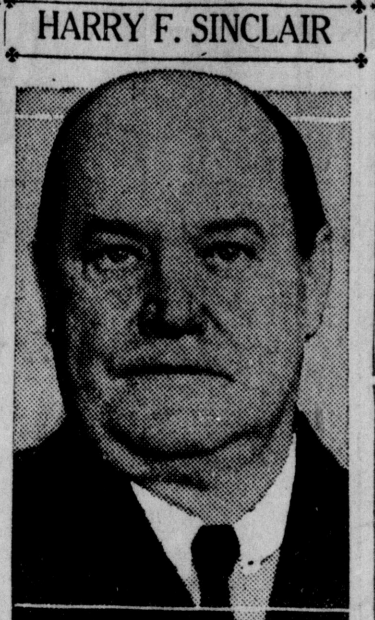

LONDON, March 9.—An urgent order for mobilization of the Shanghai volunteers was issued Tuesday night, the morning Post's correspondent there reported today.

Authorities did not disclose the reason for the call, the dispatch said.

Cantonese troops clad in Mufti were reported to have made their way into Soochow and Chinkiang, hoping to destroy property on the Nanking-Shanghai railway and disrupt communication between the two cities, the correspondent said, adding that credence was given the reports because similar attempts had been made near Shanghai.

Negotiate for Pilots' Release

CASA BLANCA, March 9.—Pilots Reine and Antone landed a representative of the governor of Rio de Oro, at Puerto Canada today to begin negotiations with Moorish tribesmen for the release of four Uruguayan aviators, who were stranded on the desolate coast March 2, after an accident disabled their plane. The relief plane was scheduled to return to Puerto Canada, Thursday, to bring the Uruguayans to Cape Juby, if the negotiations succeed.

U. S. CONTEMPT CASE AGAINST SINCLAIR RESTS

Oil Millionaire Accused Of Failing to Answer Senate Questions

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, March 9.—The government today rested its case against Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil magnate and sportsman, charged with contempt of the senate.

The charge grew out of the famous senate oil investigation, when Sinclair refused to answer committee questions.

U. S. District Attorney Peyton Gordon announced the government had completed its case after the court sustained a defense objection against introduction of only partial records of the senate committee Sinclair hearings.

The defense contended the government should introduce all Sinclair's testimony before he refused to answer questions on the point at issue.

The history of the events leading up to Sinclair's refusal to answer to committee questions was then traced for the jury by George P. Hoover, associate defense counsel.

At the time of the refusal, Hoover declared, the courts had started investigation of oil leases.

The defense was victorious this afternoon in the trial of Sinclair, when Justice Hitz ruled Sinclair's attorneys could present evidence supporting their claim that the senate oil committee's questions to Sinclair were not pertinent.

Police Seek to Shatter Alibi

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Police today were attempting to break down the alibi of Coleman Ecklund, implicated in the plot to dynamite the Saints Peter and Paul church, Sunday morning.

Authorities believed Ecklund the only man from whom they can obtain information as to how wide spread the plot was, the motive, and the identity of the mysterious person, shot down by hiding detectives after he had lighted a fuse to set off a dynamite blast.

Ecklund, still in a hospital from gunshot wounds, steadfastly asserts his innocence.

35 LABOR TO KEEP LIFE'S SPARK IN MAN

Victim Is Suffering from Paralysis of Diaphragm And Is Unable to Breathe

PATIENT IS CONSCIOUS

Pressing Up and Down on Chest, Friends Postpone Hour of Death's Arrival

EVANSTON, Ill., March 9.—The firm efforts of a band of 35 men—unskilled in the ways of science—to save the life of Alfred Frick, today were gaining on the death that threatens Frick through his failure to breathe.

"He is improving," doctors at the St. Francis hospital announced this afternoon, after examining Frick, who is paralyzed to such an extent that natural respiration is impossible.

"It is the crisis," the doctors said. "If he can live 24 hours more, he probably will recover. It is the supreme test of his endurance—and the endurance of his friends."

(By United Press)
EVANSTON, Ill., March 9.—A modern battle with death, with 35 men offering physical endurance, and medical science in an attempt to give artificial respiration to Alfred Frick, is being waged today in a white-walled room at St. Francis hospital.

Frick is suffering from paralysis of the diaphragm and cannot breathe, yet for more than 70 hours a group of his co-workers has kept him alive.

"The patient's condition is unchanged," is the terse announcement coming from the hospital room where groups of two men, working in 15-minute shifts—have for the last 70 hours pressed up and down on Frick's lower chest in order to keep the spark of life within their comrade.

Man Is Conscious
The patient is conscious. He is able to speak only a few words, but these words are encouragement and thanks to the men who are making life possible for him.

One week ago, Frick had last teeth removed. He became ill last Thursday and complained of acute pains in his stomach and chest. Saturday, progressive paralysis set in and he lost the use of his legs.

Sunday morning, respiration became next to impossible and Dr. Charles Read, specialist in nervous disorders, announced paralysis of the diaphragm was setting in. Frick's respiration ceased entirely at noon that day and three doctors, working two at a time and in exact rhythm, forced artificial respiration and kept life within Frick.

Life Kept in Patient
The monotonous rhythmic pressing on Frick's chest was holding life in the patient, but the doctors were tiring. Word passed that volunteers were needed to keep Alfred Frick alive.

Co-workers from the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, where the 22-year-old victim worked, volunteered.

In groups of two, they walked into the white room where the wan-faced Frick—a trace of a smile over his rather boyish face—sat strapped in a chair. The stenographers, bookkeepers and salesmen of the power company were given a rudimentary course in science—that of pressing regularly to establish artificial respiration—and the battle with death continued.

Able to Take Food
A bulletin issued from the room where the intensive battle with death is being carried on, at 1 p. m., said:

"The patient was able to take a little food this noon for the first time since Sunday. His color seems better."

Kellogg and Consular Officials Sued

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Secretary of State Kellogg, American Consul General Carlton B. Hurst, Foreign Service Officer Coert du Bois, and American Consuls Arthur C. Frost and Edward Gaffery were sued today for $500,000 by H. Ely Goldsmith, of New York. Goldsmith, self-styled consultant in immigration matters, charges that Kellogg and the others formed a conspiracy to keep him from conducting his business and by neglecting their duty in issuing passports caused him to lose money.

U. S. OPPOSES PROTECTORATE IN NICARAGUA

State Department Has No Intention of Taking 100-year Control

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, March 9.—The United States has no intention of intervening to establish a protectorate over Nicaragua, the state department informed the senate foreign relations committee, in secret sessions, just before congress adjourned.

Que American had been shot in the head during a bombardment, but had not been killed, according to the hearings made public today by Chairman Borah, of the committee.

The department professed not to be entirely certain that no lives had been sacrificed, but the navy department said today there had been no military fatalities, though four deaths from natural causes had been reported.

Stokely Morgan, chief of the Latin-American division of the department, testified for two days, giving details of the department's Nicaraguan policy, in the course of which he stated that Secretary of State Kellogg had assured him that there was no intention of accepting the Diaz proposal for a 100-year American protectorate.

BOY ADMITS PLOT TO BLOW UP HOME

DALLAS, Tex., March 9.—A desire to collect his father's insurance to take a trip to San Diego, Calif., prompted Howard Barr, 15, to attempt to dynamite his father's home here yesterday, according to police, who today announced Howard had made a statement to that effect.

Jack Barr, the father, saved the lives of his wife, Howard's stepmother, his small son, and himself by smothering the sputtering fuse of a dynamite stick, tossed into the room where the three were sleeping. The boy obtained the explosive from a negro employed by Barr.

Howard's mother lives in San Diego. The boy was arrested at school yesterday and, after several hours of questioning by police, he confessed to attempting to take his father's life, police announced.

The youth did not seem greatly affected by the prospect of a reformatory sentence for his attempt.

RAIN TOTALING .16 OF INCH FALLS HERE

Light rains began falling over Southern California shortly before noon today, the precipitation in this city taking on the appearance of a steady drizzle with promise of heavier showers.

Between 7 a. m. and 2 p. m., rain totaling .12 of an inch had fallen, according to measurements by S. Hill and Son, local observers. This brought the seasonal total to 15.30 inches as against 7.30 inches at this time last winter.

BRITISH HALT LAYING KEELS OF WARSHIPS

England to Delay Starting New Warcraft, Due To Coolidge Peace Plan

SCHEME MEETS FAVOR

Further Building Will Be Deferred, Pending Result Of Three-Power Parley

(By United Press)
LONDON, March 9.—President Coolidge's desire for a three-power naval limitations conference already is having its effect here.

First Lord of the Admiralty W. C. Bridgeman told the house of commons today that Great Britain would not lay keels for new fighting ships in 1927 until late in the year, after the result of the proposed conference between Britain, the United States and Japan had become known.

A member asked whether Britain proposed to continue building new warships in 1927, in view of the favorable reply to Mr. Coolidge's invitation. Bridgeman said work on ships already under construction would be continued at the same speed as though no naval conference had been suggested and as though Britain had not accepted the invitation, but it was not intended to lay down any new vessels of the 1927 building program until late in the year.

PROPOSAL RECEIVED WITH ENTHUSIASM
WASHINGTON, March 9.—The White House announcement that promising informal negotiations are in progress between this government, Great Britain and Japan for a three-power naval limitation pact was enthusiastically received here today both by big navy advocates and pacifists.

Professional peace organizations welcomed the new conference proposal as a step toward eventual disarmament.

Naval officers said such a treaty would create a paper parity between the United States and Great Britain in auxiliary ships not touched by the Washington treaty, and that the United States would be forced to build 21 10,000-ton cruisers to equal Britain's present authorized strength.

But close diplomatic observers were unwilling to jump to the conclusion that the present informal favorable responses of the British and Japanese ambassadors here mean that a three-power pact is assured. There are many and serious obstacles to be overcome before a treaty is signed, they pointed out.

LONG BEACH VOTES ON CITY QUESTIONS

LONG BEACH, March 9.—Twenty-five thousand voters, approximately 50 per cent of the city's registered electorate, are expected to cast their ballots today on questions of adoption of a proposed new city charter, permissive or banning oil derricks in certain sections of the city, bonds for gas and water department improvements, and the site for a new municipal auditorium.

The oil issue is reported to be a closely contested point, precipitated over contest of operators to extend their operations to Naples and Alamitos Heights.

Property owners in the districts have waged an intensive campaign stating their case, with advertising, steam callioles, sandwich men, radio broadcasting and other publicity mediums employed by both sides.

SAN PEDRO, March 9.—The motor ship Seakonk and the tanker La Bec, of the General Petroleum corporation, collided in the main channel here today, but following the crash were able to make their way to their respective berths.

Murder Charge Sequel to Poker Death

LOS ANGELES, March 9.—The arrest today of Ben B. White, 29, on a murder charge, following the death of John Egerty, as a sequel to a poker game, has precipitated a police investigation of the victim's alleged winning of a considerable sum of money.

Witnesses declare that White departed from the house where the game was staged before Egerty. Residents nearby, awakened by an alley fight, saw a man standing over the prostrate form of another, and on inquiry as to the trouble received the reply:

"This guy is drunk, watch him until I get a cop."

The speaker is said to have fled at this juncture, and Egerty was found unconscious from a basal skull fracture. He died without regaining consciousness.

GAS EXPLOSION MAY RESULT IN DEATHS OF TWO

Fumes Filling Room Are Ignited As Oil Worker Lights Cigaret

Two persons are dying and a third is in a critical condition at the Orange County hospital today, as the result of an explosion at Buena Park, last night, about 8 o'clock, Mrs. Bessie Brown, 28, and Donald Brown, 11 months old, are expected to die from burns received when the husband, Edgar Brown, 22, lighted a cigarette in a gas-filled room in the family home at Buena Park.

Brown is in a critical condition, according to physicians at the county hospital, who stated today that, until they determined whether or not he had taken any of the gas into his lungs, they would be unable to tell his exact condition.

Mrs. Brown was burned seriously over the entire body, face, arms and legs, according to physicians. The baby also was covered with burns, according to physicians. The mother on both the baby and the child seems to be in a serious condition because of the great expanse of skin covered, physicians stated today.

The accident occurred when Brown returned from work in an oil field and started to light a cigarette. A new gas heater had been installed in the home and the room evidently was filled with gas.

According to reports received here today, the Brown home was blown completely apart.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown arrived here from St. Joseph, Mo., less than a month ago.

Starving Seamen Picked Up at Sea

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Three starving deck hands of the Ecuadorian steamer Albatross have been rescued and taken to the Canal Zone by the U. S. destroyer Wood, according to navy department aviators today. American naval vessels are searching for other survivors. The Albatross burned in the Pacific, February 27, and the rescued men were adrift in a small boat.

Cold Rain Soaks Army of Refugees, with Sky As Shelter, Raw Rice Food

(By United Press)
TOKIO, (March 9).—Wholesale incineration of dead, injured and merely imprisoned residents of the Japan sea coastal town of Miyenama occurred a few minutes after an earthquake leveled that town, an eye-witness of the horror told the United Press today.

Eye-witness reports that the devastated area of Kyoto revealed that the overwhelming terror of the earthquake scene has not been conveyed in its gruesome entirety by reports so far received and cabled throughout the world.

The immediate area of Miyenama was wrecked by the quake. The story is partly told in the official figures compiled by the Kyoto prefect, showing: Dead, 2275; injured, 4100.

Flames Rise from Ruins
Flames rose from crumpled houses in Miyenama, with the dust occasioned by the collapse of dwellings. The town, the United Press was informed, seemed to have been razed as though by magic. Scores of fires were burning almost immediately.

Last night, a cold, heavy rain soaked the majority of the 70,000 refugees whose shelter was the sky. They had no roof or even cooked food. They ate raw rice.

Among the miserable thousands circulated Buddhist priests, reciting the prayers for the dead and comforting the survivors, with such means as were at hand.

Everywhere today bodies lay unburied. There were no tools with which to dig graves. Among the ruins of villages and at Miyenama, survivors sifted with their hands the ashes of their homes to recover the incinerated bones of their dead.

Troops Provide Tent
Volunteers from Miyenama today searched the uppermost valleys to assist those communities lying far from the beaten tracks. Coast artillerymen from the Maizuru garrison were carrying tents and bedding to the refugees.

Miyenama is not directly on the water, but lies somewhat inland at the base of a broad projection in the Japan sea. It was there that the quake seems to have wreaked its greatest destruction.

The area today was a place of misery, suffering and sorrow. The Japanese who arrived from the quake-blasted spot today said the highway between Miyazaki north to Miyenama was lined with squatting refugees, scarcely any of whom failed to bear some wounds. Miyazaki was the least affected town in the area; Miyenama the worst.

Official Death Data Given
Replying to a question in the house of peers today, the minister of home affairs said the latest incomplete reports estimated that 1899 persons had been killed in Tango province alone and that 4548 houses had been burned. Communications were still interrupted.

Seventy thousand persons are homeless in the snow-covered southern provinces of Japan, which were rocked by an earthquake Monday. It was officially estimated today as casualty lists in the disaster zone increased hour by hour.

Nurses had reached the earthquake zone today and blankets and rice were being distributed to the sufferers. Sailors from Japanese destroyers were repairing wrecked roads to permit relief workers to reach the interior.

A storm swept the stricken area last night, adding to the suffering of the homeless.

STANDARD OIL BUILDINGS RAZED
WASHINGTON, March 9.—Destruction of Standard Oil company warehouses near Kobe, in the Japanese earthquake, was reported to the state department today by Consul Dickover.

Dickover confirmed press reports that Miss Josephine Schultz, a passenger on the steamer Californian, was the only known American killed. He estimated the total death list at 2000, with unestimated thousands homeless.

"There was no serious damage at Kobe or Kyoto, but several small towns and villages on the Japan seacoast near Maizuru were reported destroyed," the consul said.

Acting Secretary of State Grew today extended, through the Japanese ambassador here, the sympathy and condolences of the American government and people to Japan in the present calamity.

The American Red Cross today requested United Secretary of State Grew to offer relief to Japanese earthquake sufferers, through the U. S. ambassador at Tokio.

BATTLE LOOMS IN LEGISLATURE ON EVOLUTION

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, March 9.—Evolution vs. fundamentalism—the dispute that turned Tennessee topsy-turvy, now promises to make a pandemonium of the California legislature.

Led by militant Samuel L. Helsing, of Selma, anti-evolutionists of the state are drawing battle lines for the conflict before the assembly education committee next Tuesday night, over whether California shall abolish the teaching of evolution in her public schools.

"It is contrary to Christian religion," declares Helsing, "for it teaches that there is no God."

Prominent speakers from the east, comprising the flying squadron of Christian fundamentalism are on the way to Sacramento for the hearing, to argue against the "monkey theory," Helsing announces.

Pastor to Fire Broadside

The Rev. Paul Rood, of Turlock, president of the Bryan League of Anti-Evolutionists, said to number more than 5000 members, will be here to fire a broadside at the theory.

An eminent array of scientists and learned men from all parts of the country will appear in defense of evolution, and indications are that the senate chambers will hear a history-making dispute.

Each side will be given an hour and a half to present its argument and the committee, headed by Assemblyman William Byrne, of Los Angeles, probably will wait until a later meeting to make its decision.

Opponents of capital punishment had their inning before the joint committees for revision of criminal law and procedure last night, when Senators Roy Felton and T. C. West, authors of the two anti-hanging bills, appeared to ask that the committee send the measures to the floor of the legislature for settlement.

League Officers Appear

Edward Morrell, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Genevieve Allen, of San Francisco, president of the League for Abolition of Capital Punishment, appeared in favor of the measure.

The hearing came to a sudden halt when Senator C. C. Baker, of Salinas, chairman, took exception to the fiery language of Senator West and asked him to close his remarks. No decision was made by the committee, which immediately went into session to consider the remainder of the crime bills.

A vote of "do pass" was given two of the crime commission's measures. One provides that criminal cases shall be set not later than 30 days after the defendant pleads, and the other makes minor changes in a section of the criminal code.

Doubling of the present fishing and hunting license fee, from $1 to $2, was approved by the fish and game committee of the senate yesterday. The increased fee would raise the annual revenue from $540,000 to $960,000, it was stated.

would be made to feed him every half hour.

Doctors said there was little change in his condition at that time.

"It depends now on the patient's vitality and on the endurance of the men working with him," doctors said.

Frick rallied sufficiently this afternoon to direct again the men who are working on him.

"Push just a little harder," he said once.

His father entered the room at the time and he asked the elder Frick to work on him.

NEW DEPARTMENT BILLS IN SENATE

SACRAMENTO, March 9.—The legislature's administration machine shifted into high gear today to pass two of Governor Young's most important measures for reorganization of state departments through the senate and into the assembly.

The measures, introduced by Senator Ralph Swing, of San Bernardino, were to create two new state departments, of health and social welfare, the heads of which will be members of the proposed state "cabinet" to confer monthly with Governor Young on state business.

Leniency was asked of the court for her and this was granted in the judge's short sentence.

ALLEGED MASH. RUM AND STILL TAKEN IN RAID

A 75-gallon still, 200 gallons of alleged "white mule" whiskey and several barrels of mash were confiscated and one prisoner, Joe Versteraten, was captured in a raid by sheriff's officers, yesterday afternoon, in a house located one-half mile west of Delhi.

Today, before Justice Andrew Wilson, acting in the absence of Justice Kenneth Morrison, Versteraten, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor and was fined $500. He was unable to pay the fine and was taken to the county jail.

The raid was conducted by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Deputy Sheriffs Ed McClellan, Roscoe Knight, F. W. Howard and Jack Roberts. The still and equipment were found in the bathroom of the house, officers said.

FARM PRODUCTS ESTIMATES MADE

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Corn on farms March 1 was about 1,113,691,000 bushels, or 42.1 per cent of the 1926 crop, compared with stocks of 1,329,581,000 bushels on March 1, 1926, the department of agriculture estimates.

About 16.5 per cent of the corn crop of 1926 will be shipped out of counties where grown, as compared with 19.8 per cent last year. The department estimated 71.1 per cent of the 1926 corn crop is merchantable, against 78.8 per cent last year.

CULT LEADER GIVES SELF UP TO L. A. POLICE

Mrs. Margaret W. Rowen, 46, cult leader and self-styled "handmaiden of the Lord," who has been sought for a week in connection with the alleged attempted murder of Dr. Burt Fullmer, yesterday surrendered to Los Angeles police.

The search for Mrs. Rowen extended to Orange county several days ago, following the finding of her automobile near San Juan Capistrano. She said yesterday that she had parked the machine and went with friends to San Bernardino, after giving up a trip from Los Angeles to San Diego. She claimed that she did not know at that time that officers were searching for her.

According to a report from Los Angeles today, the cult leader, who three years ago predicted the end of the world, admitted attempting to drown herself at San Juan Capistrano. The waves washed her ashore, she is said to have told officers. Police here are skeptical of the attempted drowning story, they said.

Mrs. Rowen will be arraigned today in Los Angeles with two members of her cult, Dr. J. H. Balzer and Miss Mary Wade, accused of being connected with the alleged attempted crime.

HORSE RACE DEATH KNELL IS SOUNDED

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 9.—The state supreme court today handed down its so-called "racing decision," holding that an injunction obtained against the Pompano Horse club, operating the famous Pompano race track, must stand.

The decision was looked upon by racing enthusiasts as sounding the death knell of horse and dog racing in this state.

The injunction, as obtained by County Commissioner John Bryan, of Broward county, against the Pompano club, charged that use of pari-mutuel devices was illegal.

The Pompano track reopened last Monday under a writ of super-seedeas obtained pending the court's decision.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Do not overlook the fact that the absence of tears is evidence that the heart is becoming hardened, for tears are not the invariable symbol of accompaniment of deep emotion. Other members of the family may be able to cry and they find it a great relief, while the anguish upon within your soul seems unable to find expression.

Just be yourself. Try to avoid saying and doing things with the notion that certain manifestations of feeling are normal or necessary. The greatest balm for your heartache is to be found in quietly, bravely plodding on with faith that God loves you.

TERPSTRA—At Greenville, March 8, 1927, George Terpstra, aged eight years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Terpstra. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m. from Smith and Tuttle's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery; the Rev. P. J. Porter officiating.

The defendant company contracted for the chilis at a certain price and then refused to take them, it was alleged. Ban was forced to find a market elsewhere at a lower price. He sued for the difference.

The defense contended that the chilis offered for delivery were not of the quality contracted for and had been rejected for that reason. J. A. GARDNER SEEMS SEAT IN CITY COUNCIL

Entering the already large field of candidates from his ward, J. A. Gardner, Santa Ana attorney, today filed his nomination papers as a candidate for a seat on the city council from the first ward. He lives at 505 South Broadway.

Gardner, who has been a resident of Santa Ana for the last seven years, was urged to make the race by many of his friends, who believe that his ability as a lawyer and his experience as a city official in his former home city, Hastings, Neb., makes him well qualified for the office.

Gardner was city commissioner in Hastings for six years and was chairman of the water and light departments of the city. As an attorney, his legal advice also would be of help to the city board, it was pointed out by his friends.

Not connected with any political organization here, Gardner said today that he would make a "lone" race, but that he expected to conduct a strenuous campaign. He has been an attorney for the last 30 years. He is a property owner here.

At the present time there are two other candidates "out" for the council from the first ward, F. S. Gordon and M. C. Cooper. J. L. McBride also has announced that he will be a candidate from the first ward, but thus far has not taken out his nomination papers.

Each looked quizzically at the other as he received his papers and Vegely, sensing that the "friendly enemies" were not acquainted, introduced them.

One was O. Wray Humphrey, real estate man, of 207 Wright street, and the other A. H. Morrow, 610 East Second street.

Both have been residents of Santa Ana for a number of years. Humphrey had been mentioned as a candidate for several weeks and it was understood that he would make the race, but politicians admitted that they had not discussed Morrow.

At the present time, there are three candidates for the council in the third ward, Edward W. Cochems having filed his nomination papers several days ago.

Dr. Roy Horton, candidate for re-election to the school board, yesterday filed his nomination papers. Carl Edgar, auto salesman, took his nomination papers out today. He also is seeking a place on the school board.

J. A. Gardner, lawyer, candidate for the city council from the first ward, filed his papers yesterday, bringing to close the "warmest" day since the campaign opened.

Vegely said today that he felt that the remainder of the week would see much activity in the political field. "Things are waxing warm, I believe, and there will be many more out before this time next week," he predicted.

Police News

Charged with being drunk, W. P. Clenny, Los Angeles salesman, residing at 4212 South Hoover street, was fined $40 by Justice Andrew Wilson here today. The man was arrested last night, in Austin, by Deputy Sheriff Floyd Howard. The fine was paid.

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q. I am asked to buy land in the northern part of San Diego county and have it planted to avocados. The salesman tells me I can make from $2500 to $3000 per acre just as soon as the trees begin to bear. Please tell me if this is correct; also what can be grown there besides avocados. I do not live in San Diego county and am not familiar with property there.—C. S. L.

A. The figures quoted to you as to profits to be derived from avocados are greatly exaggerated, not only as applied to young trees but to mature groves as well. Here and there in southern California are single trees that have done exceptionally well and undoubtedly those who have given you the estimate referred to have taken one such tree and multiplied the income from it by 75 or 90, the number of trees per acre, and assumed for purposes of selling the land that this represented the possible income in avocados. As a matter of fact, no grove in California of any considerable number of trees has ever produced such a return and probably never will.

The price of avocados last year averaged about 43 cents a pound wholesale. Due to large plantings now three and four years of age, this year there will be from five to 10 times the amount of fruit to market than there was last year. This means that unless new markets are developed it will be impossible to maintain the price paid for 1926 fruit.

There apparently is no doubt that avocado growing will continue to be a profitable industry, but in the words, an avocado grove is a proved variety, properly situated and with sufficient water, will produce about on a par with a good grove of oranges, or from $400 an acre up. This is only an estimate of course, but it is a far more reasonable figure than the one given you.

The section you refer to is excellent for citrus, winter vegetables, grapes, etc., as well as for avocados.

'ENEMIES' ARE INTRODUCED IN CLERK'S OFFICE

Two residents of the third ward, unknown to each other, walked into City Clerk Ed Vegely's office together today and called for nomination papers for the city council race.

Each looked quizzically at the other as he received his papers and Vegely, sensing that the "friendly enemies" were not acquainted, introduced them.

One was O. Wray Humphrey, real estate man, of 207 Wright street, and the other A. H. Morrow, 610 East Second street.

The section you refer to is excellent for citrus, winter vegetables, grapes, etc., as well as for avocados.

Q. Can you suggest some way to rid our section from English linnet? They seem to appear in great flocks, taking all the tender young plants from my garden, even the seeds when they are sown in shallow drills. Our young lemon tree is stripped of its buds and new leaves from the same source. It is very discouraging. I do not feel like killing them, yet they do not seem to feed upon insects as most birds do. They are only a nuisance.—Mrs. N. E. S.

A. Sparrows (English and Gambel) and linnet are garden pests, without any question, although they almost without exception, take their food from the ground. English sparrows, because of their habits and noisy quarrelling, are a general nuisance, any how. Their food consists mostly of weed and other seeds and insects. Gambel sparrows also eat seeds and insects, as well as buds and leaves of tender plants. Linnet enjoy about the same diet adding to it more fruit than do the two birds first mentioned.

Outside of poisoning with the chick feed and strichnine combination, the writer does not know of any method of driving them away. Generally speaking the good they do in the destruction of insects and weed seeds more than balances their attacks on growing plants. You might try protecting the young seedling plants with sack or burial until they are large enough to care for themselves.

With reference to the lemon tree, the writer has never known of any of these birds to injure such trees. Is it not possible that insects, such as Fuller's Rose Beetle, are doing the damage? Slugs and snails have also been known to injure citrus leaves and buds.

Q. What is your formula for red spider? These minute pests are harmful to my rose bushes, appearing under the plant leaf and drawing a web covering that is difficult to penetrate with a spray.—Mrs. N. E. S.

A. The protecting web only can be penetrated with a spray applied with considerable force. A rather strong lime-sulphur applied with special attention to the undersides of the leaves is usually effective. Such a spray cannot, however, be used on plants with much foliage unless it is weakened, to such an extent that its killing effect would be reduced. If you can get some sort of an oil spray, such as Volck, and dilute it to make a 1-2 percent solution, (1 pint of the oil concentrate to 75 pints of water. You will find that effective also. Very possibly this latter spray will penetrate the web better than the lime-sulphur. Plain water, where you have sufficient pressure through the hose has been used to control red spiders.

Q. What is the matter when tomato vines grow large and beautiful and bloom, but the blooms all fall off and there are no tomatoes? I have sandy soil and would like to raise some tomatoes this summer, but unless I understand how to treat them it will be no use to plant them.—Mrs. W. J.

A. Failure to set fruit is a common complaint against tomatoes at certain seasons of the year. There are a number of causes for non-setting of fruit any one of which is sufficient to drop the blossoms. A rank vegetative growth due to excessive fertilization or too much water will often result in blossom drop. Unfavorable weather during the blossoming period, particularly heavy rains, is another reason for non-setting of blossoms. On the other hand low humidity combined

CARBURETOR HEART OF AUTOMOBILE

W. E. Van Horn of Van Horn's Garage, at 315-317 West Fifth street says that the most important part of your automobile is the carburetor. He states that since it is the duty of the carburetor to take gasoline which is not explosive and air which is not explosive and so mix the two in such proportion as to make a highly explosive gas. Since the motor at varying speeds requires a varying amount of fuel and also that the mixture of air and gasoline shall vary according to the speed and load, the carburetor must be very sensitive to take care of it and at the same time it must be sturdy in order to resist wear and vibration. Mr. Van Horn says that all of these things are taken care of in a very satisfactory way in the Model S Schebler carburetor, which his firm handles. He says, furthermore, that this carburetor will perform equally as good on a low grade fuel as on the high test or treated gasoline for which the motorist has to pay a much higher price. Owing to the proper balance of fuel a motor equipped with the Model S Schebler carburetor will run farther and deliver more power than can be had by the use of some of the older style carburetors which were really designed for a much higher grade of fuel. C. W. WOLFORD APPOINTED TO POLICE FORCE

Charles W. Wolford, 806 East Pine street, Santa Ana, yesterday was officially appointed by the city board of trustees as a member of the police force. He entered upon his new duties last night, succeeding Roscoe W. Knight, who resigned last week to take a position on the sheriff's staff.

City Marshal Claude Rogers today announced that R. H. Barnard, former member of the "shotgun" squad, had been assigned to take the place vacated yesterday by F. W. Howard, who also resigned to take a position as deputy sheriff. Barnard, one of the best officers on the force, in Rogers' opinion, will work with Sid Smithwick, assistant city marshal, as a plain clothes man. No one has been selected to fill Barnard's place on the night patrol and another appointment to the force is expected within a day or two.

Barnard and C. V. Adams, have built up an enviable record while working on the night patrol and Rogers said today that he wanted to be careful in selecting a man for Barnard's post.

Americans Lead Checkers Play

NEW YORK, March 9.—With less than 300 games to go, America was far ahead of Great Britain in the international checkers tournament today.

At the end of yesterday's play, the American team had scored eight more victories against two more for Great Britain. Thirty-eight games were drawn.

tin, in the G.A.R. hall of this city. An appreciative audience of over 200 enjoyed the program of solo, duet, trio and ensemble work.

Especially pleasing were the ensemble numbers in which tontal effects and union of bowing were particularly noticeable. The juvenile class was complimented. Raymond McCall made his first public appearance showing marked talent in his "Overture Banquet" (Laurendeau) which he played from memory, with Miss Edna Warner as accompanist.

Lovers of the violin were interested in the work of Miss Ruby Gray and Miss Immyl Whitsett who displayed expression and technique in their solo numbers, and Edgar Tooles was also a favorite whose excellent rendering of Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" brought demand for an encore.

The pupils were assisted by Miss Edna Warner, a 15-year-old Huntington Beach piano pupil of Madam Andrist, whose rendering from memory of Bartlett's "Grand Polka de Cincier" was loudly applauded. Miss Warner also studies violin under Mr. Andrist and took part in the violin ensemble numbers.

A special feature of the concert was the playing by advanced pupils, of their teacher's latest composition, a waltz written for the occasion and called "California." So enthusiastic was the audience, that the composition was requested. At the conclusion of the program, Professor and Mrs. Andrist gave two beautiful selections.

Pupils taking part were Ruby Gray, Immyl Whitsett, Juanita Fowler, Helen Fickas, Oliver Aufdenberg, Gussie Lanfranco, Andrew Regla, Renie Regla, Emma Regla, Gloria Schure, Calvin Brown, Cleo Blodgett, Cleo Shields, Ruth Baker, Carl Stearns, Raymond McCall, Alice Lamb, Lois Lamb, Hester Sanborn, Edna Warner, Edgar Tooles, William Salisbury and Richard Salisbury.

Several bills, introduced in the legislature by solons interested in child welfare, were indorsed by the body upon recommendation of Mrs. D. G. Boodale, legislative chairman.

Nominating Committee Named

The nominating committee, which will prepare a list of officers to be voted on at the next meeting, to be held April 9, in San Juan Capistrano, was named as follows: Mrs. Fay Spangler, Mrs. H. Barnes and Mrs. J. E. Waters.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The following lecture on Christian Science was given by Judge Frederick C. Hill, C. S., of Clinton, Illinois, at the Yost theater, 805 Spurgeon street, Tuesday evening, March 8, under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Santa Ana, California.

There is a substantial conviction in the thoughts of normal individuals that it is right to be healthy and to be happy; and human endeavor is very largely directed toward the attainment of these desirable ends.

The basic foundation upon which government rests, is the fact that mankind is endowed with the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. These fundamentals have been designated and named, "Man's Inalienable Rights"; and civil law has decreed that the enjoyment of these rights shall not be limited, abridged, nor denied, without "due process of law."

A survey of the conditions surrounding mankind will disclose the fact that many individuals are sick and unhappy; others are struggling with poverty and lack; large numbers are not enjoying liberty of mind nor body. It will be discovered that great masses are not successfully engaged in the pursuit of happiness. The amazing fact is the discovery that these individuals have not been deprived of their natural, sacred rights through "due process of law."

These distressing penalties are self-imposed through erroneous thinking; and they have utterly failed to discover that obedience to the fundamental order of right thinking will establish and insure the enjoyment of these rights.

AN ILLUSTRATION
No doubt it has been observed that many people are continually looking for and expecting to find the unpleasant things in human experience. Being accustomed to finding these conditions, the obstacles seem apparently insurmountable, and these individuals conclude that there is no available remedy, hence they endure them.

Some months ago I was a passenger on a railway train enroute to a large city. As we approached the terminal station the train very suddenly and unexpectedly stopped. Upon investigation it was discovered that a large truck was disabled directly in front of our train, and was standing across the track. After some little time the passengers alighted from the train and began to examine the truck. The majority of them formulated opinions as to the best method to be employed in its removal; and they were quite willing to give these opinions and their advice to those engaged in the task of its removal. After all the time spent in examining the truck, and discussing the methods of removal, you may be assured that the obstacle was still there. At this time a little newsboy with a large bundle of evening papers appeared. As he approached the truck one of the men observing his interest in it said: "Well, I suppose you can tell us just how to remove this truck." He smiled, and at once replied, "Let me think a minute. May be I can tell you how to move it." The man looked at him in amazement and replied: "Think. What does your thinking have to do with removing that big truck?" The little newsboy had observed that the motor within the truck was silent. He turned his attention away from the obstacle and began to look about. While thus engaged he discovered a large switch engine on an adjacent track about three hundred yards away. In an instant he exclaimed: "Yes, I can tell you how to move it. Back that big engine up to the rear of the truck and hook on those two big chains, and she will pull the truck out of your way in a jiffy." His recommendation was adopted; the engine and chains were attached to the truck, and in ten minutes we were on our way into the terminal station.

The engine was there. It had been there all the time. Not one individual had looked away from the truck; and consequently no one had discovered the remedy at hand. Did the thinking of that little newsboy have anything to do with the removal of the truck? Had it not been for the thinking of some individual the truck would have been on the track at this very moment. Hence, there is but one reply, the thinking of that little boy was the prime factor in removing that obstacle.

There are many distressing human experiences impeding progress and preventing the enjoyment of man's natural rights, just as the truck impeded the normal progress of the train into the terminal station. Just as the truck could be removed through right thinking, so it has been discovered that all through the ages there has been, and now is, an efficient and effective remedy for every human need. To this age, that remedy has been restored and presented through the revelation of Christian Science as the unfolding of the basic laws of life, liberty and happiness.

THE BIBLE, THE TEXT BOOK
I am quite sure it will be agreed that if Christian Science is a revelation, then, of necessity, it must have its foundation grounded and established in Bible authority. Hence, as a requisite to the understanding and practice of Christian Science, it must be recognized and accepted that its teachings are based fundamentally upon the Bible; and that the King James version of the New and of the Old Testaments is recognized and used in all Christian Science services. Through the study of this version of the Bible, Mary Baker Eddy received her inspired revelation. She gave to the world her discovery, and founded and established the Christian Science movement.

There are many intelligent people who have never investigated the subject of Christian Science; and at times one hears this expression: "Christian Scientists talk a great deal about a Discoverer and Founder. Who is that Discoverer? What was discovered? What was founded?"

The answer to all of these queries is simple. An intelligent, devout, Christian woman, Mary Baker Eddy, is the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. Early in childhood she became deeply religious and was an efficient and progressive student of the Bible. Through an earnest study and research of the Scriptures she proved that perfect trust and confidence in God's laws are followed by fixed and absolute results. She furthermore proved that God governs His universe, including man, through infinite intelligence; and that infinite intelligence constitutes and embraces absolute law. She likewise proved that absolute law is immutable, (unchangeable), and that it can be understood and intelligently applied; and when understood and accordingly applied, absolute law sets aside and nullifies the false beliefs oft designated and termed, "natural" or "human" law.

During her investigation and research, an injury caused by an accident led her to apply these absolute, immutable laws to her then apparently helpless condition; and through her understanding and the intelligent application of these laws she was healed. Through this experience she had proved for herself that God's laws are immutable, available and operative. She discovered the "Divine Laws of Life, Truth and Love," (Science & Health, p. 107.) and she named that discovery Christian Science. After her discovery and healing she wrote and published a book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and designated this book the "Christian Science Text Book." Many people believe that Christian Scientists regard this book as the Bible, and that they substitute it for the Bible. This belief is unfounded and untrue. The Christian Science text book is not the Bible nor a substitute for it. It is merely that which its name implies: A "Key," a Spiritual interpretation of God's unchangeable laws set forth in the Bible.

In due time this New England woman established a church;—"The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts;" and throughout the world there have been established many legitimate and authorized branches of this church.

Christian Scientists love this Christian woman and they are deeply grateful for the years of loyal devotion given by her in establishing this cause. As a testimony of their loyalty, devotion and gratitude, they are striving to preserve, protect, and make available, her discovery. They are striving to apply it to the needs of humanity. And they are earnestly striving to live up to her high standard of a genuine Christian Scientist thus defined:—"Christian Scientists abide by the laws of God and the laws of the land; and, following the command of the Master, they go into all the world, preaching the gospel and healing sick." (Miscellany p. 123.) "Moreover, they love their enemies, even those that hate them. This we all must do to be Christian Scientists in spirit and in truth." (Pulpit and Press, p. 21.)

CHRISTIAN HEALING, ITS AUTHORITY
In the investigation of Christian Science it will be discovered that its mission is not merely to relieve physical discomfort and heal disease, but that its ultimate purpose is the elimination and destruction, (forgiveness), of all sin.

Some of our religious friends have raised the objection that we make entirely too much out of the healing element.

We frankly admit that we make a great deal out of the healing element. However, it should be clearly understood that we are not establishing a monopoly nor seeking to limit or confine the practice of Christian healing within the ranks of one single religious denomination. The field is a large one, and we are content to let Christian Science be judged by the joy, happiness and intrinsic good that it brings into human experience through the healing of the sick and the reforming of the sinner.

The element of Christian healing seems to have been very largely eliminated from the thoughts of Christian people generally, and consequently has gradually disappeared as an essential, vital activity of the Christian churches of today.

To "Reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing," (Manual, p. 17.) was the prime motive in the establishment of the Christian Science movement by Mary Baker Eddy.

Some time ago, a friendly physician said some very kind and helpful things regarding his observation of this movement and its mission. He related the circumstances of a visit to a distant city; and of his attendance at a Sunday morning service in one of the Christian Science churches of that city. He frankly admitted a deep interest and enjoyment in the services, and said that it bore evidences of a genuine, consecrated Christian service. He then said, "However, I want to give you people just a little free advice. You confine your efforts to preaching the gospel; keep your hands entirely off that healing element. Leave that part to the physician and surgeon; he will attend to that and it will relieve you of a vast amount of responsibility."

The comments of this physician were made after due reflection and were expressions of his good faith. We deeply appreciate the recognition that our services have a place in the work of evangelizing the world, and the frank admission that they are Christian in character. It is plain to be seen that he entertained a very limited vision of the mission of the Christian religion; and that he had made the common mistake made by many good Christian people. His assertions would indicate that the entire mission of the Christian religion was, as he put it, "preaching the gospel." His understanding of that assertion might be described as the taking of a text from the Bible and proclaiming from some public place a theological discourse or oration on that text. That was the full meaning of his understanding of "preaching the gospel." Now, many people entertain the same limited understanding. This narrow vision of the mission of the Christian religion will be gloriously illuminated by reading the gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, also the Acts of the Apostles.

A systematic study of the Bible will reveal that Jesus and His disciples devoted very little time to that kind of preaching. It will become apparent to the thoughtful student that the major portion of their ministry was devoted to the healing of the sick; establishing comfort and good cheer among those who were sorrowful and distressed; and furthermore, to uplifting the sinner and restoring the dead to life.

It will be observed that Christ Jesus left a positive command or commission to be observed by His disciples (students) and followers. He said: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark 16:15.) And again: "And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils." (Matthew 10:7-8.)

It is universally recognized that every positive fact is based and founded upon an absolute principle. Jesus announced a positive fact when he said: "And these signs shall follow." (Mark 16:17.) The sick shall be healed, the deaf shall hear, the blind shall see, the lame shall walk, and devils or demons shall be cast out. Why these signs? These signs enumerated by him as recorded in the gospels are the absolute and affirmative evidence that the gospel preached and practiced by him is established and grounded upon divine Principle. Hence, when understood, and intelligently applied, that principle is evidenced through the operation of immutable (unchangeable) law, CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALING.—FOUNDATION

At this time our attention should be directed to the basis or foundation upon which Christian Science healing rests. I submit the following statement of fact from the Chapter on "Prayer," the first chapter in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. "The prayer that seeks the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God—a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed love." (S. & H. p. 1:14.)

Accepting the facts herein stated as a foundation there is but one conclusion; viz. Christian Science healing is based upon divine Principle. It is the evidence of immutable law. Hence, the "signs following."

It would be quite reasonable to assume that some individuals will take issue with the statement of fact heretofore made; and that they will conclude that such statement is not supported by daily observation and experience. In support of the issue thus raised they may cite as evidence that some Christian Scientists are sick; others are struggling with sorrow, poverty and adverse conditions. They may point to some who have made failures in business transactions, and to instances of those who have passed through the human experience of death. The issue very promptly raises these questions: "Why these conditions? Why have these individuals not been healed?"

In replying to the queries it would seem quite sufficient merely to call attention to the fact that we have not asserted that all human discord, embracing sin, sickness, poverty, failures, and death have been eliminated from human consciousness nor from human experience. Furthermore it is not asserted nor claimed by enlightened Christian Scientists that at this time we have scaled the heights of proof and demonstration that exclude all of the evidences of failure. The principle remains just the same. These evidences of failure do not in the least change nor affect the principle; they do not in the least nullify the operation of the law of healing. These evidences are affirmative proof that in some way the principle has not been completely understood, and consequently the immutable laws of good have not been fully and completely applied.

Guard Against Fraud
Westfield referred to attacks which have been centered against Wall street as a result of the operations of swindlers and fraudulent promoters who were at no time a part of legitimate organized finance. This same legitimate business, however, has for years been a leader in the fight to stamp out dishonest practices and each year, he declared, further marked progress is being made. To this end the New York stock exchange has established a fraud bureau which works in close co-operation with better business bureaus and agencies of the government all over the country. Moreover, he pointed out, the exchange has tried with a large measure of success to have laid before the investors of the nation the essential facts concerning enterprises into which they propose to put their money in order that they may determine from these facts whether or not the proposed investment is a proper one to fit their own individual needs.

Yesterday's Rotary meeting was presided over by W. B. Williams, cashier of the First National bank. The chief again heard Robert Brown, vocal soloist, a treat the crowd never fails to enjoy and applaud. C. A. Gustin accompanied him.

Seek Salvation
ARMY IMPOSTORS
Police today were asked to aid in the search for two women, reported to be soliciting funds from Santa Ana business houses in the name of the Salvation Army.

According to a report filed by William Du Temple, captain of the Santa Ana Salvation Army home, there are no solicitors for the Army working here. The women are impostors, the captain said.

Police received a similar report several weeks ago and succeeded in routing one of the fake solicitors from the city.

The Salvation Army depends on the Community Chest for its funds, Du Temple said. He appealed to Santa Ana citizens to expose the women if they are found.

WALL STREET IS DISCUSSED BEFORE CLUB

A clearer understanding of the character and functions of Wall street, and a closer co-operation between that financial center and other equally important and interdependent sections of the country are essential to continued progress and prosperity, Jason Westerfield, director of publicity of the New York stock exchange, declared yesterday, in an address before the Santa Ana Rotary club at St. Ann's Inn.

Westerfield spoke on "The Real Wall Street" and declared with emphasis that the delusion and suspicion which exists toward the financial center is due in large measure to a failure to understand Wall street as it really exists and to recognize the difference between legitimate, necessary economic enterprise and fraudulent financial operations of swindlers.

Capital Aids Progress
The speaker described the part which Wall street and organized finance has played in the creation of national prosperity, and the economic development of the nation during the last century.

"Without large accumulations of capital, easy of access and mobile in form," he declared, "the miracle of American progress could not have happened; the locomotive would have remained a laboratory dream; the railroads would never have been constructed and woven into the marvelous network which now brings every section of the United States into close and prosperous relationship. Our nation would have comprised a sparsely settled area bounded on the west by the Mississippi river and dotted here and there by a few cities enjoying the tenuous economic and social interrelations to which they were limited by the buggy and stage coach methods of transportation."

"Production and distribution are economic Siamese twins, and it indeed would be futile to attempt to form great corporations necessary for the concentration of capital into great productive units unless the means for the distribution of corporate securities were ready at hand."

"Thus has the New York stock exchange, by providing the complete machinery for the marketing of corporate stocks and bonds become one of the necessities in the economic progress of the nation. By means of its ample facilities, and surrounded and safeguarded by its numerous protective regulations, American business has found in Wall street and the New York stock exchange the means by which steady and continuous progress is possible."

Guard Against Fraud
Westerfield referred to attacks which have been centered against Wall street as a result of the operations of swindlers and fraudulent promoters who were at no time a part of legitimate organized finance. FAILS TO ANSWER SUMMONS, CHARGE

Charged with failure to appear on a summons for speeding, Paul Lobo, 18, 1333 East First street, was arrested last night by Harold Jaynes, city motorcycle officer, and is being held in the county jail.

Lobo was originally arrested on February 26, on East First street, charged with making unnecessary noise and speeding 40 miles an hour in a 20-mile zone. He was told to appear in police court on March 2, and is declared not to have appeared.

Lobo probably will be given a hearing before Judge J. F. Talbot, today.

PADDOCK TO RETIRE FROM CINDERPATH

LOS ANGELES, March 9.—Charley Paddock has parked his spiked shoes and running togs in mothballs, and according to current advice won't be seen in cinderpath events again this season.

It appears that the "fastest human" was dissatisfied with his showing in the recent A. A. U. relays, occasioned by inability to devote adequate time to training and to the daily routine at the movie studio.

"I won't race again unless I have five weeks of actual training behind me, and with that much training I am confident that I can go out and run the 220 in 20.4 seconds," Paddock said. "I'm going to do it next year."

The Strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, connecting the Red Sea with the Gulf of Aden, is called the Gate of Tears because of the many wrecks caused by its fierce currents.

INSTRUMENTAL GROUP TO AID BOYS' CHORUS

The Merle Ramsay Entertainers, consisting of Merle Ramsay, xylophones; Dorothy Ramsay, xylophones; Katharine Kervin, violin, and Cynthia Kirvin, piano, will assist the Frances E. Willard group of the Santa Ana Boys' chorus in the radio program to be broadcast Thursday night from station KFON, Long Beach, it was announced today by Robert Fernandez, president of the junior chamber of commerce.

The instrumental numbers by the Ramsay entertainers will lend just the right variety to the program, it is believed.

The problem of transporting the 40 boys from the Willard school is giving Fernandez considerable agitation, he explained. Parents of boys in the chorus, who can do so conveniently, have been asked to transport as many of the young singers as possible. Fernandez also called upon members of the junior chamber to help in the transportation. The boys will meet in front of the Frances E. Willard junior high school, North Main street, at 5:45 p. m.

The program in Long Beach will begin at 7 p. m., and conclude at 8 p. m., according to the junior chamber president.

"From time to time townspeople have told me that they would be glad to assist in transporting members of the chorus to the radio stations. Now is the chance to make good on their promises," Fernandez concluded.

The Willard group will be directed by Miss Esther Jean Davis, music teacher in the school, who is also assistant director of the boys' chorus. An entire new program of songs has been rehearsed for the entertainment, Miss Davis said.

PRINCE OF WALES PLAYS GAMES AND JOINS HUNTS WITH GREAT ENTHUSIASM

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1927, by United Press)

LONDON, March 9.—The Prince of Wales is greater as a sportsman than he is great in sport. He plays games and hunts with intense enthusiasm, often with disquieting recklessness, but he is not an expert at any game.

More important than his skill, however, is his splendid spirit in athletic competitions. He always tries to do well, but he places sportsmanship above individual triumph, and he is a good loser. He is loved as the sporting prince because he so admirably typifies the English code of "sport for sport's sake."

H. R. H. is chiefly celebrated abroad for his "falling to the hounds," but this impression of his riding is unfair because it does not do him credit. Riding is his favorite sport and this season he has been hunting an average of twice a week. His record at Melton Mowbray, where he usually hunts, is better than that of many recognized fine horsemen, but his trouble is that every time he takes a toss the spill goes reverberating around the world. What often escapes his critics is his pluck in leaping to his feet and chasing his mount across the field in order to continue the hunt. He may go down—that being part of the game—but he never goes out.

Loved Sports Since Childhood
The prince has taken an interest in sport from childhood. He kicked a football about the royal gardens with his brothers, and later at Sandringham played matches with children of the neighborhood, but often became irritated because he resented his princely position to the detriment of their attack. He was a keen bicycle rider and showed an early hankering for speed.

At Oxford, young Edward first came in contact with his fellows in sport on an equal footing. He liked rugby, but was not sturdy enough to take part in actual matches. His best game at that time was soccer football. He was fast on his feet and shifty with the ball. He didn't mind in the least taking a shoulder or being spilled in the mud. He became a familiar figure on the field with the Magdalen second eleven.

Unlike most aristocratic Englishmen, the prince never cared much for cricket, and rarely attempted to play it. His friends also believed the game was too slow for him, which was probably true. He has always shown a preference for keen excitement in sport. Curiously enough, tennis never interested him much. He never learned to play well, and he is too self-conscious to appear as a dub in a game. His brother, Albert, the Duke of York, is the star tennis player of the family, and has played at Wimbledon in doubles.

Much Time at Golf
Edward has spent much time at golf, particularly during the past two or three years. He is credited with a handicap of 14, but only on his best days out can he justify this rating. He is very human at golf and makes many mistakes. His chief difficulty in perfecting his game is the curiosity of crowds. Before he gets over a hole or two on any course, he has attracted a big gallery, and this makes him nervous and puts him off his game. On one occasion, he topped an easy approach and then pulled off his cap and gave it a disgusted fling. Immediately, however, he recovered himself, and with a sheepish smile went and got his cap and resumed play. His feeling about the game is reflected in a remark he once made to some fellow players:

"It is easier to make an ass of yourself at golf than in any other game in the world."

Unlike his father, the prince is not very keen on shooting. He has done a fair amount of bird shooting on the moors, and he handles a gun well, but he prefers to hunt or play polo.

"When I get older and cannot hunt as I do now, I shall probably take up shooting seriously," he once explained. If he does, he will have to improve to equal his father. The king is one of the best guns in the country.

Edward's best game is squash rackets. When he is in town he plays almost daily, usually in the morning to set him up for the day. Also he greatly delights in running. He is an early riser and often, clad in a sweater and running shorts, he will be in the palace gardens by 7 o'clock, running around briskly and limbering up.

he has refused to be persuaded to abandon the sport.
The prince keeps 17 hunters at Melton Mowbray, but in buying horses he always asks the advice of experts. In tumbles at various times he has broken both shoulder blades, sprained a wrist and an ankle and his been kicked hard in the face, but his morale is higher than ever. His riding is no joke to him and he feels that the popular reaction to his tosses is not sporting.

The prince has played the games of many peoples in many lands. He was very keen on pig-sticking in India, but he did not like tiger hunting as it was introduced to him in India because he was taken on a state hunt, with a ring of elephants protecting him, and this was not what he regarded as sport. He likes lots of action, and was to take chances. He shares with many young men of his age the restlessness that is a heritage of the war, and he finds an outlet in exciting sport.

CRACK JOCKEYS TO RIDE IN COFFROTH

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 9.—With a prize of $100,000 at stake, owners of Coffroth Handicap favorites Sunday, will not trust their mounts to green hands. Three more riders are being imported for the mile and a quarter stake, the world's richest race for horses of all ages, that will be run at Tijuana track.

Willie Garner, George Fields and Johnny Callahan, rated among America's leading pilots, are on their way west. Garner arrived Friday from New Orleans to pilot Sandy Man for the La Brea stable, owned by Hamilton H. Cotton, of Los Angeles.

Fields and Callahan are expected late today from Miami. Fields will be aboard the Rosedale stable's Dangerous, and Callahan on Justice F., a 3 to 1 Coffroth choice, by reason of his sensational Tijuana Derby victory last Sunday.

Other recent jockey arrivals are C. Allen and H. Richards from New Orleans. Richards will pilot Vespasian, Justice F's stablemate. Allen takes the mount on S. A. Cowan's Cotlogomor, winner of the $50,000 New Orleans Handicap, and now second choice at 5 to 1 in the coming classic.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 9.—A frantic mother, her body seared by flames that were threatening the lives of her five children, risked her own life to save her three little girls and then lost two sons in a fire at Compton, Ark., near here, late yesterday.

She carried the three small girls to safety, one at a time and was returning for Oscar, 7, and Billy, 5, when the roof of the building collapsed and burned both of them to death.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The amazing world is agog over the amazing results of the new gasoline discovery made by the Chicago scientist, L. Fogarty. It is an entirely different, new, scientific idea. Never before anything like it. It is not a mechanical contraption, carburetor device or dope to put in gasoline. Its action is astonishing. Here's its feature—it is positively guaranteed to give 334 gallons of gas at only 1c a gallon every 10,000 miles. It is named Motor-Mystery and is also guaranteed to instantly eliminate carbon, increase speed, power and pep. One of its strongest features is that it is needed only every 10,000 miles. RECEIVE BRIEF IN APPEAL TO SAVE GOODWIN

The brief prepared by Vincent Surr, of San Francisco, seeking a new trial for Rev. Philip Goodwin, convicted of murdering J. J. Patterson and sentenced to hang for the crime, was admitted for consideration by the state supreme court, sitting in Los Angeles today, according to dispatches received here this afternoon.

The brief requests a reversal of the decision of the Orange county superior court, and states that new evidence has been uncovered. The new evidence, a letter from J. Mackelbridge, asserts that Goodwin was not present at the time of the murder.

Patterson, a prominent Los Angeles broker, was murdered in Santa Ana canyon, on either March 14 or 15, 1926. It was brought out at the trial of Goodwin here, Albert Dewey Gaines, alleged companion of Goodwin, on the night of the murder, is scheduled to go to trial here on murder charges next Monday.

Gaines testified against Goodwin at the latter's trial, charging that although he was in Santa Ana canyon, Goodwin killed the Los Angeles broker.

CARBURETOR HEART OF AUTOMOBILE

W. E. Van Horn of Van Horn's Garage, at 315-317 West Fifth street, says that the most important part of your automobile is the carburetor. He states that since it is the duty of the carburetor to take gasoline which is not explosive and air which is not explosive and so mix the two in such proportion as to make a highly explosive gas. Since the motor at varying speeds requires a varying amount of fuel and also the mixture of air and gasoline shall vary according to the speed and load, the carburetor must be very sensitive to take care of it and at the same time it must be sturdy in order to resist wear and vibration. Mr. Van Horn says that all of these things are taken care of in a very satisfactory way in the Model S Schebler carburetor, which his firm handles. He says, furthermore, that this carburetor will perform equally as good on a low grade fuel as on the high test or treated gasoline for which the motorist has to pay a much higher price. Owing to the proper balance of fuel a motor equipped with the Model S Schebler carburetor will run farther and deliver more power than can be had by the use of some of the older style carburetors which were really designed for a much higher grade of fuel. C. W. WOLFORD APPOINTED TO POLICE FORCE

Charles W. Wolford, 806 East Pine street, Santa Ana, yesterday was officially appointed by the city board of trustees as a member of the police force. He entered upon his new duties last night, succeeding Roscoe W. Knight, who resigned last week to take a position on the sheriff's staff.

City Marshal Claude Rogers today announced that R. H. Barnard, former member of the "shotgun" squad, had been assigned to take the place vacated yesterday by F. W. Howard, who also resigned to take a position as deputy sheriff. Barnard, one of the best officers on the force, in Rogers' opinion, will work with Sid Smithwick, assistant city marshal, as a plain clothes man.

No one has been selected to fill Barnard's place on the night patrol and another appointment to the force is expected within a day or two.

Barnard and C. V. Adams, have built up an enviable record while working on the night patrol and Rogers said today that he wanted to be careful in selecting a man for Barnard's post.

Americans Lead Checkers Play

NEW YORK, March 9.—With less than 300 games to go, America was far ahead of Great Britain in the international checkers tournament today.

At the end of yesterday's play, the American team had scored eight more victories against two more for Great Britain. Thirty-eight games were drawn.

tin, in the G.A.R. hall of this city. An appreciative audience of over 200 enjoyed the program of solo, duet, trio and ensemble work.

Especially pleasing were the ensemble numbers in which tonal effects and union of bowing were particularly noticeable. The juvenile class was complimented. Raymond McCall made his first public appearance showing marked talent in his "Overture Banquet" (Laurendeau) which he played from memory, with Miss Edna Warner as accompanist.

Lovers of the violin were interested in the work of Miss Ruby Gray and Miss Emily Whitsett who displayed expression and technique in their solo numbers, and Edgar Tooles was also a favorite whose excellent rendering of Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" brought demand for an encore.

The pupils were assisted by Miss Edna Warner, a 15-year-old Huntington Beach piano pupil of Madam Andrist, whose rendering from memory of Bartlett's "Grand Polka de Cinqcent" was loudly applauded. Miss Warner also studies violin under Mr. Andrist and took part in the violin ensemble numbers.

A special feature of the concert was the playing by advanced pupils of their teacher's latest composition, a waltz written for the occasion and called "California." So enthusiastic was the audience, that the composition was repeated. At the conclusion of the program, Professor and Mrs. Andrist gave two beautiful selections.

Pupils taking part were Ruby Gray, Emily Whitsett, Juanita Fowler, Helen Fickas, Oliver Aufdenberg, Gussie Lanfranco, Andrew Regla, Beale Regla, Emma Regla, Gloria Sohr, Calvin Brown, Cleo Blodgett, Cleo Shields, Ruth Baker, Carl Stearns, Raymond McCall, Alice Lamb, Lois Lamb, Hester Sanborn, Edna Warner, Edgar Tooles, William Salisbury and Richard Salisbury.

Board Splits on County Cash for Santa Ana Paving

S. A. BOARD TO AID PORT FOLK IN EFFORT FOR NEW DISTRICT

Subject Is Brought Up by Dr. Horton at Meeting of Members Monday Night

BROWNIDGE ASKS FOR MORE HARMONY

Look Upon Harbor District As Entitled to Building For High School Classes

Assurances that the Santa Ana board of education will not offer any opposition, but co-operate in every possible manner with the residents of Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Corona Del Mar and Balboa in the latter's move to bring about a satisfactory solution of the high school question, even to the point of allowing the harbor section to withdraw from the Santa Ana city high school district, were voiced last night by the school trustees, at the regular board of education meeting.

The matter was brought up by Dr. Roy C. Horton who told his colleagues that he had been approached by several residents of the harbor district who desired to know the board's attitude in the premise. According to Dr. Horton, many voters in the harbor district have gained the impression that Santa Ana is opposed to the secession idea and desires to live at the expense of outlying districts. He suggested that the board co-operate in every possible way with residents of the harbor district.

A sympathetic attitude toward the cause sponsored by the harbor citizens was manifested by Alex Brownridge, president of the board, who thought that there is considerable merit to their demands for a separate high school district. He declared that the best interests of Santa Ana, as well as of outlying territory, would be by maintaining harmonious relations, and by allowing the outside districts to work out their own problems.

Though there was no formal discussion on the subject of the Santa Ana high school district establishing a high school in the harbor district, it was intimated that such a method of solving the high school problem would be favorably entertained by the trustees. In fact, the trustees were unanimous in their opinion that with the rapid growth of the harbor section, it would be necessary to take up building plans at an early date.

BELIEVE IT OR BELIEVE IT NOT! SANTA ANA HAS JUST HAD MOST HORRIBLE FLOOD!

Impressions of the damage done in Santa Ana and Orange county by the recent high waters, as gained by Mrs. Henry Brodt jr., former resident of Minnesota, writing in the Martin County Independent, March 1, differ widely from the views of another former resident of Fairmont, Minn., it was showed plainly today when the latter woman brought the clipping to The Register with a request that it be published.

The news item is as follows: Mrs. Henry Brodt jr., whose home is south of Welcome and who is passing the winter in Santa Ana, Calif., has written the following letter to a friend in Fairmont, recounting the awful destruction that followed recent floods in that section. The letter bears the date of February 22:

"I guess you are as well off in Minnesota as we are in California with all the rain and storms we have had here. I cannot write and tell you how a 'ful it is. Houses went into the river. Here in Santa Ana, some floated down toward the ocean, miles from where they stood. The Japanese women, running around in the fields with their children and no place to go, mud up to their knees—I never saw anything look so sad in my life. The Red Cross and Salvation Army took them in. There were 500 Mexicans driven out of their homes here in town. The water went in through the windows.

"Shall send you a few clippings and pictures so you can see what it looked like here. I have read of floods but have never seen any. Give me good old Minnesota even if it does get cold there. There is no place like Martin county.

"The weather hasn't been a bit nice this winter, so cold all of the time. We haven't been able to have the outside door open one day since we came here, nor have we been without a fire. They don't have any more sunshine here than we do in the winter, always cloudy and foggy.

"We were over to Chester Bonney's today. It looks worse there than here. An oil tank tipped over with 80,000 barrels of oil in it and went all over everything when the river broke out of its banks and everything is under as black as tar. They were digging holes along the roads to let the oil run in and then they would burn it. The oil was so deep in some doorways that the chickens couldn't walk through it.

"I can't tell to tell you the damage it has done. There are hundreds of people here that have worked hard all their lives and haven't a cent to their names now with their homes in the rivers."

The matter was brought up by Dr. Roy C. Horton who told his colleagues that he had been approached by several residents of the harbor district who desired to know the board's attitude in the premise. According to Dr. Horton, many voters in the harbor district have gained the impression that Santa Ana is opposed to the secession idea and desires to live at the expense of outlying districts. 'WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING' ABOUT LATEST PLAY

Critics Call Presentation Best Ever Produced Here By Company of Amateurs

By LOUISE STEPHENSON

The whole town's talking! At least that portion of the town which attended the opening performance of "The Whole Town's Talking," presented last night in the Temple theater, by the Santa Ana Community Players, is talking, thus spreading the news to others, not so lucky as to be among the first nighters.

And all of the talk is favorable, for it is interspersed with reminiscent smiles and chuckles, which say better than words that the play was a complete success.

"Congratulations, George, it's the funniest piece of work you ever have done," Frank Lansdown was heard to remark to Director George Gerwing, following the final curtain.

"The play's every bit as amusing as 'Enter Madame,'" Clarence Gustlin declared.

"I never heard a better fight in my life," W. B. Tedford said, in speaking of a thrilling fight in the dark, the climax of the play.

"My sides hurt, I've laughed so hard," Maurice Enderle chuckled.

"One who expressed himself as more than pleased with the production was R. R. Miller, of Whittier. Miller is a prominent Community Player in that city and he will be remembered as the bad man in a former production of that title.

Has Interesting Plot

The plot centers around the results of a plan of Henry Simmons and his simple, uncultured business partner, Chester Binney, by which the two hope to gain Simmons' daughter's affections for Binney. Of course, the plot did not work out as the conspirators had arranged and, before the play was over, a famous motion picture actress, a prize fighter, a dancing teacher and others are hopelessly mixed up in the plot. Amusing situations exist throughout the three acts to such an extent that one hardly recovers one's breath from laughing at one character until one goes off into gales of laughter over the actions of another.

As the crude, unpolished small town man, who has risen from a position of no consequence to that of a partnership in an important factory, Joseph Peterson, as Chester Binney, shows his talent in that he lives his part. Throughout the play the audience laughs at Binney and his efforts to put himself upon an equal footing with his associates. So cleverly does he take his role that all sympathize with him to the utmost, unconsciously wishing him the best luck as he proceeds on his haphazard way.

Harry Brackett, as Simmons, the instigator of the schemes which end so disastrously, is good, as always. Brackett is a veteran Community Player and, as he found his part unusually suited to his ability, he presented a performance hard to equal. His eternal attempts to "fix things" bring many of the laughs and, of course, bring about many of the amusing situations.

Very Suspicious Wife

Harriet Simmons, the wife of Henry Simmons, is played by Julia Hyde and clever she is in her role of suspicious wife and admiring mother. The way in which she responds to people of the so-called worldly type gives rise to many comic situations.

Mabel Pruitt undoubtedly has advanced in the estimation of her fellow players after her performance last night. As the pretty, artistically inclined daughter, Ethel, with a leaning toward men with pasts, she created for herself a place in the heart of the audience which it will be hard for others to fill.

A blue young man of the world, shocked at the idea of work and interested only in the telling of his past love affairs, is Roger Shields.

Undaunted by predictions of defeat of the measure, based on recent opposition in certain quarters, Orange county supporters of senate bills 148, 146 and 147, better known as the "Cobb weekday religious education" bills, will continue to fight for their passage, it was announced today by J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, chairman of the county committee.

According to Cranston, plans are under way for circulating petitions throughout the county, which, on having received a desired number of signatures, will be forwarded to State Senator Chester M. Kline, of San Jacinto, and Assemblyman Dr. C. D. Ball, of this city, now attending the sessions of the state legislature.

Cranston does not share the pessimistic view taken by those who believe that the bills will be defeated; on the contrary, he believes that with the organized support of the church people, they stand a good chance of passing.

Men who recently have become members of the Santa Ana Exchange club were given an insight into the purposes and operations of the club meeting, yesterday, by President B. M. Morthland, Secretary Gene Douglas, Dr. Roy M. Fortier, chairman of the club's educational committee, and Past President Charles D. Swanner.

Dr. Fortier emphasized the work of the club in behalf of poor Mexicans and pointed out that the club is maintaining a baby clinic at Delhi and assisting in conduct of a class for instruction of Mexican women in American ways of cooking and doing other domestic work. The club also is furnishing milk for a few Mexican families who are in financially distress. One family has 11 members.

John Ott, chairman of the club's committee on Mexican activities, said that lack of funds was handicapping the work of instructing women in the art of cooking. He said that funds were needed to supply, in larger quantities, materials necessary for teaching cooking and suggested that possibly charity money used in other ways could be spent to better advantage in providing cooking materials.

Presentation of the subject closed with arrangements being made to invite Walter Gregg, county aid commissioner, to meet with the club next Tuesday for discussion of aid measures.

Many Easterners Request Orange County Publicity

Many requests are made for Orange county and Santa Ana publicity booklets at the Chicago headquarters of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, J. Frederick Ahlborn, formerly of Anaheim, in charge of the bureau, has informed George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, in acknowledging the receipt of a new shipment of the books. There is every indication that the tourist travel to California from the east this year will exceed all previous records, Ahlborn wrote. He suggested that Orange county people stopping in Chicago visit the headquarters of the Los Angeles organization.

POSSIBILITY OF LOWER RATES ON P. E. SEEN

The proposal of the Pacific Electric railway to increase all suburban and interurban fares by 14 per cent may actually result in a lowering of the fares, in the opinion of George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who today was informed of the schedules for the proposed increases by D. W. Pontius, vice president of the traction company.

If more persons can be induced to use the Pacific Electric, more revenue will accrue for the company and the problem of more financial return will have been solved, which is the motive behind the proposal to raise the fares, Raymer was informed by Pontius. If the increased travel can be induced by lowering the rates, the Pacific Electric is willing to revise the schedules downward, it was said.

With the idea of giving the suggestion a tryout, fares to a number of points on the outskirts of Los Angeles have been cut, Pontius said. The effect of these cuts will be considered when the hearing on the proposed increase in rates is held, according to Raymer.

Raymer is confident that the lowering of the rates will be good business for the Pacific Electric and has so informed the Pacific Electric officials, he said. If the policy is put into effect, he said, a reduction in the fares on the Santa Ana and Balboa lines could be expected.

GOOD WORK OF HEALTH OFFICE IS RECOGNIZED

Official recognition of the high professional standing maintained by the Orange county health department, which ranks among the foremost in the state, is the increasing number of inquiries received from universities, medical schools, health agencies and civic institutions, desiring information on the organization, personnel and activities of the Orange county health service.

While the greater number of these inquiries comes from health agencies in California and other Pacific coast states, not a few come from points on the Atlantic seaboard and other far-away places.

Most of the inquiries seek information on the organization of the health department as it relates to clinics and nursing service. Other queries deal with juvenile delinquency and treatment of "problem children." Frequently information is desired on matters relating to the care of school children predisposed to tuberculosis.

In other communications, information is requested as to whether the county health department is co-operating with the school authorities and the Parent-Teacher associations in promoting the welfare of children.

In his replies to these inquiries, Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, says that his department is co-operating in every possible way with the school authorities, the P. T. A. and all organized social welfare agencies.

CROP YIELDS INCREASE

The average yield per acre of corn has increased 18 per cent since 1885, wheat 17 per cent, oats 14 per cent and potatoes 39 per cent, according to the U. S. department of agriculture. The total area of the four crops expanded about 52 per cent but the total production has increased 77 per cent.

Division on Views

Finley and Smith adopted the former view; Schumacher and Mitchell the latter. Supervisor Jeffrey voted for the $10,000 appropriation, he said, because of his earlier promise, but announced that, henceforth, he would oppose such appropriations, thereby aligning himself with Schumacher and Mitchell.

Should yesterday's split develop into the open chasm indicated by the rumblings heard in some quarters, Schumacher's group appeared to hold the whip-hand, according to observers of the situation. They sum it up thus:

SCHUMACHER AND MITCHELL OPPOSE

Minority Defeats Motion of Finley As Majority of Four-fifths Is Required

Another defeat for the attempt to appropriate $10,000 of county funds to aid the South Main street paving project, within the city of Santa Ana, which proposal split the county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon for the second time, today left the lines sharply drawn in what promises to be a bitter controversy over policies with respect to expenditure of road moneys in Orange county.

Repeating their attitude of a week ago, when they refused consent to a proposal that the $10,000 be appropriated, Chairman William Schumacher, of Buena Park, and Supervisor John C. Mitchell, of Garden Grove, voted down a motion by Supervisor S. H. Finley, of Santa Ana, who had renewed his effort to authorize the appropriation. Finley's motion was supported by Supervisor Willard Smith, of Orange, and Supervisor George Jeffrey, of Irvine, thus gaining a favorable vote of three to two, but a four-fifths majority was necessary, so the proposal was lost.

Establishment of Precedent

While the board's repudiation of an earlier promise of the money to Santa Ana city officials was made one of the prominent surface issues of the debate yesterday, it was recognized by both sides that the real, underlying importance of the clash was the establishment of a precedent to govern future policy.

Two directly opposed views came into conflict in yesterday's vote. Supervisor Finley's contention that tax money should be expended, at least in part, within a reasonable proximity to the territory in which it is collected, was met and overthrown by the opinion of Chairman Schumacher that the county has not sufficient funds to adopt the practice in all the cities of the county, and to make the appropriation for Santa Ana would be discriminating against the other cities.

Division on Views

Finley and Smith adopted the former view; Schumacher and Mitchell the latter. Supervisor Jeffrey voted for the $10,000 appropriation, he said, because of his earlier promise, but announced that, henceforth, he would oppose such appropriations, thereby aligning himself with Schumacher and Mitchell.

Should yesterday's split develop into the open chasm indicated by the rumblings heard in some quarters, Schumacher's group appeared to hold the whip-hand, according to observers of the situation. They sum it up thus:

There Is Nothing Like It In America. Made by Cambiagli of Monza, Italy. Beautiful Light Tan

This hat for men is so typically Italian in shape and design and so different from American hats that we cannot obtain a picture to show you here how it looks.

Its color is its most unique feature. This very light shade of tan has not been produced heretofore in lower priced hats. It is an expensive process and reserved for the $20 to $30 hats.

The Italian, Cambiagli, has solved the difficulty, and here you have a marvelous effect at a surprisingly low price.

A narrow matched band, with silk cord. This hat can be dry cleaned, and is practically indestructible. Jaunty in style; a great value at $5.00.

EXIT SMILING

BEATRICE LILLIE
JACK PICKFORD

AT THE THEATERS

Jack Pickford and Beatrice Lillie in a scene from "Exit Smiling," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Popular and effective methods by which orchids, ermine and diamonds are separated from butter-and-egg men by New York's efficient army of blonde and brunette gold excavators are revealed with laughter in Colleen Moore's "Orchids and Ermine," the picture which came to the Yost Broadway theater yesterday.

This human and humorous story of what happened to one little New York hotel telephone operator who fell in love with a millionaire traveling incognito as his own valet, pokes good-natured fun at the oleomargarine and hen-fruit merchants. In addition to being charmingly convincing and appealing as the operator, Miss Moore runs the switchboard as though she had done it all her life.

This star's comedy is delightfully whimsical and is particularly effective in "Orchids and Ermine." The love scenes with Jack Mulhall in a driving rain on the unprotected top of a Fifth avenue bus, the efforts of "lobby sheiks" to make dates, and the scenes in which the flower counter blonde shows Colleen how to vamp men, paged laughs in large numbers yesterday.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Beatrice Lillie—a comet of the comedies!

That's what the English stage star is—she has dawned as something so new, so original, and so startling to the screen that she leaves an audience gasping in amazement while still weak from laughter.

She's the proof that comedy doesn't need slapstick; and the first actress who has brought to the screen the subtleties of the stage; the subtleties that made her the sensational star of "Charlot's Revue," in London and New York.

Beatrice Lillie is making her screen bow in "Exit Smiling," the hilarious tale of life with a traveling "rep show" now playing at the West Coast-Walker theater. It is the story of life with "tank town" thespians; it shows them in performances of fearsome melodramas in town halls that make the audience rock with mirth—it shows them behind the scenes in a life that is funnier even than their plays.

And—under this all is drama—a poignant drama of human souls that are just like the souls of any of us. There is a romance that is wonderfully sweet—a touching little sacrifice—and then more laughs again. You laugh at Beatrice Lillie, but you can't help sympathizing with her in her funny, ardent, but hopeless love.

It is a new thing to the screen—a comedy based on real drama—and in which the laughs are due to situations and to real life—with no slapstick. It has paved the way to a new type of play. Jack Pickford does a superb piece of acting as the hero.

Another big feature on the program will be the popular Walker band, augmented by the Shell orchestra.

This will be one of the largest and most versatile musical presentations ever offered to the people of Santa Ana. The two orchestras united will consist of twenty-two artists.

Bobby Wolf, master of ceremonies, and director of the West Coast-Walker band, will direct the combined bands. Those who witnessed his numbers the past two days will agree that he is quite capable of doing so.

FLOOD CONTROL MEASURE WILL BE DISCUSSED

Residents of the county interested in plans for creating a flood control district embracing all of the county should attend the special meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, to be held tomorrow night at the Mission Inn, Fullerton, in the opinion of George Rayner, secretary of that organization and of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting will be held for the special purpose of discussing the bill before the legislature proposing to create the district. L. A. West, Santa Ana attorney, who assisted in drafting the bill, will explain legal points and the intent of the measure.

It was pointed out by Rayner that should the bill be passed, the district is automatically created and that voters of the county will not have opportunity to vote on organization of such a district. Under provisions of the bill, the board of supervisors becomes the governing body and the board is authorized to make investigations and act on propositions that may be submitted as to the best plans for controlling the waters of the streams in Orange county that are a menace to property.

The voters will have the privilege of saying whether or not a bonded indebtedness should be created for the execution of flood control plans that may be adopted. The bill provides that this may be done on a majority vote.

Rayner commented on the importance of every voter in the county acquainting himself with the provisions of the bill and stressed the point that tomorrow night's meeting would offer full opportunity for gaining information. Dinner accommodations are limited to 150 and reservations should be made in advance through the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce. Dinner is scheduled for 6:30.

BOARD SPLITS
ON POLICY OF
PAVEMENT AID

from which Finley desired to make the appropriation, is not apportioned legally by supervisorial districts, there is said to have been an agreement whereby it is equally divided between the five districts. Each supervisor has been expending his share in his own district, excepting Finley, whose district is comprised entirely of the city of Santa Ana. Finley's share has been expended in other districts, chiefly for the improvement of roads leading into Santa Ana. Until he asked for a $30,000 appropriation to aid in the paving of East First street and South Main street, a few months ago, none of the funds had been spent in his own district. The $30,000 was promised and $20,000 of it was spent on the state highway on East First street, the South Main street portion being held up by yesterday's vote.

Finley Appears Helpless

Because a four-fifths vote is necessary, under the law, to authorize an appropriation of county gas tax funds within any incorporated city, Finley appears to be helpless under the present alignment, observers say, to get any share of funds for his district. At the same time, he is equally helpless to prevent the Schumacher group from appropriating his share of the gas tax funds for their districts, because merely a majority, not a four-fifths vote, is required to appropriate funds for roads outside of incorporated cities.

Yesterday's controversy was precipitated by the appearance of City Trustees F. L. Purinton and S. E. Goode, who asked the board of supervisors to reverse its refusal of a week ago when, with Jeffrey absent, Schumacher and Mitchell had out-voted Finley and Smith.

Mayor Purinton reminded the supervisors of the $30,000 promise, and said that the promise of the $10,000 that had not yet been received, had been relayed by the city council to the South Main street property owners. The city council, he said, proposed to match the county appropriation with $10,000 it had accumulated in its city motor vehicle fund. Purinton pointed out that the supervisors had never notified the city that the promise had been rescinded.

Schumacher Answers Mayor
Schumacher promptly answered the mayor, saying that he had voted for the $20,000 appropriation for East First street, but could not approve of additional appropriations for Santa Ana.

"That is setting Santa Ana out in preference to other cities. Do you think that is fair?" he asked Purinton.

"I am not going to answer that question. But I think it is fair to spend tax money where it is collected," Purinton retorted.

"These are through streets," he added, "and it is not fair to ask the property owners along those streets to pay for the extra heavy paving that is required there because they are through arteries of traffic."

"The fair way is to treat all cities alike, and we wouldn't have enough money to make appropriations to all the cities in the county," Schumacher insisted.

Claims Money Promised
Purinton reiterated that the money had been promised. Supervisor Jeffrey, at that point, inquired of Nat Neff, highway superintendent and former Santa Ana street superintendent, what the South Main street paving would cost, and was told it would reach about $80,000, being 10 inches deep in the center and eight inches on the sides.

"I'll not support the appropriation," Schumacher remarked. Jeffrey spoke in a bantering tone to Purinton: "You wouldn't ask for any more if you got this, would you?"

"I'm asking for only what was promised," answered the mayor. Supervisors Smith, Jeffrey and Finley, and Neff agreed that there had been an understanding that the $10,000 was to be appropriated for South Main street when the work was ready to be started.

"I was not a party to such a promise," declared Schumacher. Purinton was under the impression that Schumacher had been present at the time, but the chairman denied this and the mayor did not positively dispute the point.

Measure Doomed to Defeat
With Schumacher denying his part in the promise and Mitchell refusing to be bound by any promise that his predecessor, former Chairman T. B. Talbert, had made, the motion, when it came soon afterward, was doomed to defeat.

"I'll vote yes, because I am going to keep my word," declared Jeffrey. When the vote was announced as three to two in favor of the motion, Finley was apparently under the impression that the majority was ample and the motion had carried. He thanked his colleagues, and for the first time stated his position.

"I feel," he said, "that it is only just that at least part of the tax money should be expended reasonably near to the locality where it is collected. Santa Ana pays about one-fourth of the gas tax of the entire county and contributes annually about $126,280 to the road moneys of the county. Though it is an incorporated city, it includes hundreds of acres of undivided acreage, where road conditions are similar to those of rural districts."

Schumacher States Position
Schumacher likewise stated his position. "I am not against the city of Santa Ana," he said, "but I'm standing for a square deal to the other cities. Santa Ana has no county roads to take care of, as the other districts have, yet here is Santa Ana demanding one-fifth of the money. If I had Fullerton, for example, alone in my district, it would be different."

but there are other cities. And I do not think the people of Santa Ana want to take such an advantage."

"They do not want any advantage, but they expect what was promised them, and I think the city officials are due some consideration with respect to that promise," insisted Mayor Purinton, refusing to be diverted from the subject of the board's promise.

Finley answered Schumacher with the statement that, so far as having roads to take care of is concerned, Santa Ana spent more than a half million in care of its streets and roads during the last four years, besides donating its share of the gas tax funds to the other districts, which we were glad to do," he said. "This is the first time we have asked for anything," he added.

Jerome Hastens to Correct
County Auditor W. C. Jerome took occasion at that point to correct Mayor Purinton's impression that "the law was wrong in not providing cities a share in the gas tax funds."

"The law is all right and does provide that cities can share in these funds," said Jerome. "Santa Ana or any other city in the county has a right to come in here and ask for some of this money. The law says so. A third of all the gas tax collected for Los Angeles county is spent in the city of Los Angeles."

Jerome today made public the amounts contributed by Santa Ana to road moneys of the county. The city, he said, pays a fourth of the gas tax and an eighth of all other road funds, except the fund raised under the 40-cent tax rate for roads outside of incorporated cities. The various items are as follows: General fund, $6200; bridge fund, $7500; county good roads, $37,000; retarding bonds and interest, $10,600; gas tax (estimating that only 25 per cent of the tax is paid in Santa Ana, whereas the official figures will show from 30 to 33 per cent), $63,000; total, $126,280.

The amounts, said Jerome, are quoted in round figures, held conservatively below the actual sums, as in the case of the gas tax estimate.

County Assessor Sleeper said today that there are 37,000 autos and trucks in the county, of which 9000 are in Santa Ana.

played to perfection by Lawrence Phillips, who is introduced as "of Chicago—and Paris." Overbrimming with politeness and such gentlemanly graces as endear him to femininity, Shields finds it hard to realize that the so-called country bumpkin, Chester Binney, can steal Ethel Simmons from him.

A difficult role is that of James Duggan, but well done. As the jealous fiancé of Letty Lythe, the motion picture actress, he creates much amusement by his towering rages, which are so easily wiped away by flattery. His big scene, at least his loudest, is the fight in the dark, for when the lights are flashed on after a moment of utter darkness one finds furniture overturned, clothes torn and Roger Shields in a pitiful condition. After last night's performance, one wonders why Lavinia O'Toole had not entered the motion picture world, for her performance on the stage as Letty Lythe, actress, was most convincing. Pretty, chic and altogether adorable was Miss O'Toole and enough excuse for any man to be jealous to the extent of fighting for her.

Maid's Work Praiseworthy
A most proper maid was Ethel Osterman, who is expected to do some important work in community plays of the future. In "Enter Madame" she displayed an unusual sense of values as a character actress and proved her ability again last night in playing a part entirely different from the one in "Enter Madame."

Minor roles which were featured by consistently good work were those of Melvina Frye, as Sadie Bloom, the dancing teacher; Mary Clifton and Mary Arnold, two charming friends of Ethel; and Harold Fish, as the taxi driver.

Proceeding the play and between the acts music was provided by the Lathrop junior high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Edith Cornell.

"The Whole Town's Talking" will be repeated tonight, Wednesday night and Thursday night, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, in the Temple theater.

FEARS WATER DISTRICT BILL
WOULD BE UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Editor Register: Editors of the county newspapers and other citizens, who have kept track of the conservation of water question, must remember the bill passed by the legislature five or six years ago, authorizing the formation of water districts in the basins of the streams of the state, which bill was found to be unconstitutional and was dropped at that time as worse than useless.

Now I have not seen the bill for the same purpose pending in the present legislature and to be discussed by the county chamber of commerce at Fullerton, next Thursday evening; but from the reference to it in the Orange News I am afraid it embodies similar unconstitutional features to those that killed the other bill. Note the following extracts from the News' description of the pending bill:

"Supporters of the bill in its present form believe that the proviso is just, because real estate, they believe, gets the most benefit from such a district, and, further, the cost would be more equitably distributed in this way because hundreds of acres affected are not improved."

The supporters also are averse to having the bill amended, because they say, multitudinous amendments would doubtless result in such delay that the bill could not be enacted at this session of the legislature and must wait two years. Unless amended, they say, it would probably pass without opposition, as it concerns only Orange county.

It thus appears to describe a "district" and the funds for the expense of the improvement must be raised by taxing only the "real estate," since such property gets the greater "benefit" from the improvement. But California's present constitution requires all kinds of property to be taxed, except such as the constitution itself exempts from taxation. Then, too, there are many citizens who have all their means invested in other kinds of

PALMS FOR WATER SHED

Editor Register: The need of some evergreen growth to cover over our large watershed that was so recently denuded by fire is so great that it should be our duty to offer any suggestion that would be the means of overcoming our great loss. The loss of vegetation to hold our winter rains is not the only liability with which we are faced. For those of you who have never witnessed a regular, old-fashioned downpour of rain over a burned-over mountain area, I will say you are fortunate indeed.

Various trees and shrubs would likely be of value, but for the fact that they are not available in sufficient quantities, or that the cost would be prohibitive, has eliminated them at the present time. I believe we have the very thing we need right here in Orange county, and enough to supply the demand. If there is a plant in the state of California that will stand any more abuse than the date palm, I have yet to make its acquaintance. A California horned toad and our seedling date tree can get along with less visible means of support than any other specimens of plant or animal life. If there is anything more restful to the eye than a grove of these palms, I have yet to see it. For a game refuge, it would be a Gibraltar, for the nimrod who would chase a deer or a quail into a grove of them would come out empty handed, and he would spend the rest of his week-end pulling spikes out of pants and shirt. For tanking up on water, the camel may have them beaten a little, but the branches are built to retain the maximum amount of moisture—enough to carry them over a long spell. For seeding the ground they cover, they have no equal, seed that will germinate close to 100 per cent is borne by the bushel on each adult tree. If any of these statements need to be verified, drive out to Mr. Duggan's home at Ocean avenue and Buaro road, a short distance due east of Garden Grove. The sight of his driveway of palms will repay you for your trouble and you will find hundreds of pounds of date seed just right for planting on a place that needs our especial attention, not next year, but NOW. Tons of this seed can be collected in a few days, and a sharp stick would be the only thing needed to plant them. One other qualification that they have, and one that is of the utmost importance: Just how you would go about setting a grove of these palms on fire would require considerable thought. Off hand, I would say that Old Nick himself would give up the job in disgust, for it just can't be done, for their lower branches do not die back like their relative, the fan palm, that flourishes in the rock canyons near Palm Springs and numerous other places along the desert of the Colorado.

Thousands of people drive for miles to see these specimens of trees that likely were standing there when Columbus was lobbying around the Spanish court trying to get enough cash to discover America. Anyway, they need no arguments as to their desirability in that respect. For withstanding erosion, they are exceptional, having for their feeders hundreds of fibrous roots that are just like a piece of rope to cut, and by the way, I think for this feature they would be ideal for planting along any levee for river protection. I am pretty busy now, but will drop my work for a few days at any time to help plant the seed. Two or three men and some Boy Scouts could collect enough seed next Saturday to keep everyone in Orange county busy planting for quite a spell, so let us go and talk taking about it.

Amazing Improvement in Mrs. Jester's Health

by Tanlac. Looks and Feels Better Than Ever

"Tanlac has certainly done wonders for me; I cannot praise it enough," declares Mrs. T. D. Jester, 1268 Pennsylvania Avenue, San Diego, Calif. "I had suffered a nervous breakdown and for many months afterward I continued to get worse and worse, despite all the different nerve medicine I tried. Nothing seemed to help until I tried Tanlac."

"I was as near to being a complete nervous and physical wreck as I could be, without entirely collapsing. The slightest noise would make me want to scream, and after retiring it would be hours before I could sleep. I would awaken with terrible nervous headaches and the slightest exertion would tire me out so that I would be trembling. I lost weight and appetite. I tried Tanlac with little expectation of improvement."

"Before I had taken all of the first bottle, I developed a ravenous appetite, and was sleeping better. I continued to improve rapidly and felt like a different person entirely. In less than three weeks I had gained seven pounds. Later, my weight went up from 105 to 125 pounds."

If your troubles are similar to those from which Mrs. Jester suffered so keenly, get relief before it is too late. Tanlac will doubtless help you just as it helped Mrs. Jester—and as it has helped thousands of other sufferers.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST

The First Disciples

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY
DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
SKETCHES BY KROESEN

John the Baptist, seeing Jesus, said, "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." Again, with two of his disciples, as they looked upon Jesus, he said, "Behold the Lamb of God!" (John 1:29-36)

"The two disciples heard John speak, and they followed Jesus." One of them was Andrew. (John 1:37-40)

Andrew found his brother Peter, and he brought him to Jesus. (John 1:41-42)

Philip, who was probably the other of the two disciples to whom John spoke, found Nathanael, who said of Jesus, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?" However, he responded to Philip's invitation, "Come and see," and became a disciple. (John 1:43-51)

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

When Wee Miss Muffet disappeared, the Tines all felt very cheered. They'd found another kindly friend who had a treat in store. Said Coppy, "Well, she's surely fine. She treats us nice, and as for mine, I guess I really like this funny country more and more."

The crowd then saw a hill nearby, and Clowny said, "I guess I'll try to climb away up to the top and gaze out into space." He scampered off and made the trip and when he'd reached the very tip, he soon discovered there were many queer things 'round the place.

Off to the left and to the right, some wondrous buildings rose in sight. They had the queerest sort of towers, that seemed to sadly lean. Wee Clowny stood there, quite perplexed. Said he, "That's where we'll all go next. I think they're quite the oddest things that I have ever seen."

And then he went back to the bunch and found them all enjoying lunch. Miss Muffet had returned, and now wee Clowny heard her say, "Come on and join us, Clowny, do. The others wouldn't wait for you." And then he saw that they were eating bowls of curds and whey.

It surely tasted mighty good and Clowny thanked her, as he should, and then suggested that they pick a pretty bunch of flowers. The Tines all ran here and there and plucked the posies everywhere. Miss Muffet sat and watched them as they worked for several hours.

And then they gathered by her side as Clowny walked right up and cried, "We've picked these flowers just for you, since you have been so kind." "Oh, thank you. This is very sweet. Now I'll suggest another treat. Go down the road and through that field, and something you will find."

FACIAL MASSAGE

You don't have to be an expert to know how to massage your face, at least, to massage it sufficiently to take out the tired lines that come at the end of the day. All you need know is that massage motions should be upward lifting the muscles which sag when you are tired, and that all motions should be gentle.

Whether you massage for tiredness or to prevent wrinkles, or to smooth wrinkles out when they have already appeared, makes no difference in the mode of treatment. Begin by spreading a thin layer of cleansing cream over the face, then wash it off with hot water and soap. Wring your face cloth from the hot water and let it remain over the face for a minute, then as it cools, wring it out again and hold it over the face. Do this three or four times. The heat is restful, the skin relaxes, the pores open, giving up the dirt they have held, for one thing, also ready to absorb the flesh building cream you are about to feed them.

Spread a generous layer of flesh building cream over the face, chin and neck. Massage it in. Begin at the forehead, stroke across the brows and around and under each eye. Do this several times, pressing gently around the corners of the eyes where the crowsfeet come. Begin once more at the chin, and stroke upwards over possible wrinkles around the mouth and out over the cheeks to the ears. If you have wrinkles just in front of the ears, begin again back of the jaw and go upwards towards the corners of the eyes, over these ear wrinkles.

That's all you need know. It's perfectly simple, you can't go wrong. A trained masseur, knowing the muscles and veins under the skin, would give you a more elaborate and possibly more beneficial massage. But your own treatment, if you follow these directions, will be good enough for general purposes.

excellent for blonde hair, and if the hair can stand it, a little lemon juice in the last rinse will help to keep it from getting dark.

To about two quarts of water, add juice of half a lemon; this is a harmless bleach unless the hair is inclined to be dry and brittle. In such cases the dryness can be counteracted by massaging a few drops of olive oil into the scalp after the shampoo.

If your hair is inclined to lose the natural curl, train it into the waviness you find becoming.

Cocoanut Cookies

Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup thick sour cream, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup canned shredded cocoanut, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs until light, gradually beating in sugar. Add cocoanut, salt and half the cream. Mix thoroughly and stir in flour and vanilla, using as much flour as works in easily. Dissolve soda in remaining cream and add to mixture. Stir until perfectly smooth and add remaining flour. Chill thoroughly and cut in slices or roll on a well-floured molding board into a sheet about 3-8 of an inch thick. Cut with cookie cutter first dipper in flour and bake on an oiled and floured sheet in a moderate oven.

THE PRIZE

He only knew that falsely he had won,
And now the prize was his, and now the cheers
Of all the throng were ringing in his ears,
The public praised him for the thing he'd done;
To doubt his right to glory there was none,
A silver cup was his for all the years,
Beyond suspicion or a rival's sneers,

A cup, forever he could look upon.
"Our boy won this!" his parents proudly said.
Time was he thought such flattery were sweet,
But to that cup he never turned his head
But what it whispered to him: "You're a cheat!"
And then one day he dashed it from the shelf,
He couldn't stand the sight of it himself!

Queer Quirks of NATURE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n.
The white ash is the most beautiful and useful of our native ashes, standing among the most important forest trees. But how many people can distinguish it from others of the same family? Very few, I believe.

Ash leaves are composed of several leaflets along a single leaf stalk. These leaflets are in pairs, opposite to each other on the stem, together with a terminal leaflet. The number of leaflets on each ranges from five to nine, most frequently seven. The leaves are also arranged opposite one another on the twigs and branches.

There is a wide difference between the characteristics of the green ash and those of the white ash. The leaves of the white ash are whitish beneath and smooth, often with a few suggestions of coarse teeth; those of the green ash are green on both surfaces and have teeth like saws.

Though not so much used as some other trees, the white ash has fine possibilities as a street shade tree. Its comparatively light foliage makes it especially desirable for streets, as the open crown permits the passage of sunlight and free circulation of air. The tree develops a round graceful top and it grows fairly rapidly.

Rich soil and moisture are required, but under favorable conditions it is thrifty and hardy. It is rather subject to attacks of oyster shell scale and leopard moth. The chief drawback is its short season of foliage, being similar to the American elm in this respect.

The wood is very heavy, hard, tough, with light sapwood and brownish heartwood. It is used widely, particularly for athletic equipment, agricultural implements, tools, furniture and interior finishings. The white ash is found from Nova Scotia to Minnesota to Florida and Texas.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back Say All Druggists

This Simple Home Treatment Giving Amazing Results

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to treat can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moore's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. All druggists sell lots of it.—Adv.

An idea + Action = profit

A progressive coffee distributor devised a new container with the brand name appearing on one side and the word "sugar," "salt," or some other household commodity for which the can could later be used, on the other side. The idea would appeal to housewives and quick distribution was needed. Nineteen Long Distance calls to dealers in nine states resulted in eighteen orders—total 27,128 pounds of coffee. Telephone sales efficiency, 94.7%.

When your business demands quick action, depend upon Long Distance telephone service to accomplish results speedily and at low cost.

Among the many new and practical uses of Long Distance you will no doubt find some applicable to your business. These will be cheerfully discussed with you upon request to the business office of the Telephone Company.

A Rare Dish---Estelle's Eggs a la Jack Dempsey

Her Simple Recipe and How It Came to be Named for Her Famous Husband

ESTELLE TAYLOR, the beautiful, has two careers. As a moving picture star she is widely known although it is as the wife of Jack Dempsey, once king of the prize ring, that she has perhaps gained a greater fame.

As the latter, too, she achieved distinction in the kitchen. This is how it came about.

NAMELESS DELECTABLE
At a dinner party in the handsome Dempsey home in California the hostess served a unique dish. So delectable was it that one of her guests asked what it was called.

"I have no idea for a name for it," Estelle replied. "Here's one," suggested another guest. "Call it eggs a la Dempsey!"

And so it was. This is the original recipe:

How It's Done
Cool and peel three hard-boiled eggs. Slice into halves, topping the rounded end of each half so that it will stand yolk end up. Remove and mash the yolks, adding two teaspoons of anchovy sauce, one tablespoon cream, half a teaspoon of dry mustard.

Work together and when thoroughly mixed, fill in the whites with the mixture. Cut a French olive around the stones into lengthwise strips and place one strip across the top of each egg to resemble a basket handle.

Says

A. L. HOMECOMING
ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—Seemed like an American league homecoming day when I walked into Waterfront park at St. Petersburg to give the Boston Braves the once-over.
"Hello, Bill," was a welcome sound to a stranger. I turned to see Charley Robertson, former pitcher of the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns.
To jog your memory, if you have forgotten, Charley Robertson was the young man who several years ago shut out the Detroit Tigers without a hit or run, not a man reaching first base.
It was one of the greatest pitched games I have ever umpired. Robertson, as I recall it, was pitching his first year in the American league and turned in the remarkable performance during the first month of play.

RECORD AGAINST DETROIT
The Detroit Tigers at that time were regarded as the hardest hitting club in the American league.
During the first five innings the Tigers paid no particular attention to the fact that Robertson was setting them down as fast as they came up.
It had been rumored that Robertson doctored the ball in order to make it take elusive breaks. In the sixth inning Ty Cobb and the rest of his team began a concerted protest against the ball that Robertson was pitching.
I decided, in order to avoid unnecessary bickering, I would give Robertson a new ball any time Detroit took exception to the one in use.
Prior to my doing so, Robertson had assured me he would as soon pitch a new ball as an old one. That made it easy. He proved it by not letting a single player reach first.

JINX FOR JOHNSON
Hardly had I finished my greeting with Robertson, when someone from the direction of first base shouted:
"Looks as if the umpires are going to do some spring training this year. Are you still guessing at 'em, Bill?"
It was Jacques Fournier, who has seen service with both New York and Chicago in the American league.
Jack always could hit the old apple. Walter Johnson once told me that Fournier made more trouble for him than any batter he ever pitched against.
Jack says he feels fit and looks for a big season. Manager Bancroft is hoping he has the right dope.

AMERICAN LEAGUE STARS
Other former American leaguers to hit me were George Mogridge, the veteran southpaw, one of the heroes of the 1924 world series of Washington over the New York Giants; "Maury" Burrus, who once played first base for Connie Mack; Walter Gautreaux, the Holy Cross star, who played a brief engagement with the Athletics, and Lance Richbourg, once a member of the Washington club.
George Mogridge looks the same as ever. Age seems to make no change in his physical appearance and he seemed to have as much stuff as ever. Mogridge, you know, was never a Walter Johnson for speed.
Manager Bancroft of the Braves expressed great surprise that Mogridge was waived out of the American league. He was reported to have a bad arm when Boston refused to waive, yet he worked in over 40 games last year.
It certainly seemed as if I was in an American league camp when I greeted the Braves.

JAWN'S STANCE, HEADGEAR

JOHN MCGRAW

Here is an unusual pose of John McGraw, manager of the Giants. During the baseball season "Jawn" generally wears "civies" while on the bench, but this picture, taken at the Giants' camp at Sarasota, Fla., shows him bedecked in a Giant uniform and a straw purchased in Cuba. It might be mentioned that "Jawn's" batting stance clearly shows a form that even Babe Ruth's 220 pounds can't touch.

COMING SEASON TO TELL IF AMERICAN TENNIS PRESTIGE DOOMED; FRENCH DUE SOON

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 9.—Arrival of the French tennis team, expected within a few days, will precede the start of a season that either will restore the prestige of the American game or make a complete mess of it. Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, two members of the formidable French Davis cup tennis team are coming to participate in a team match and to compete in the national indoor tennis championships with the hope of mopping up as they did last season.

Rene La Coste, who won the 1926 indoor and outdoor American championships, is not coming, as he found it impossible to get a furlough from the army, but Borotra is a worthy color bearer. He reached the finals last year after Bill Tilden, Vinnie Richards and Frank Hunter had been defeated.

Tilden Bears Buried

Since Richards has turned professional, the burden of meeting the first French invasion of the year will fall on Tilden and Frank Hunter, the hard hitting Olympic doubles champion. Tilden was once a name that would have been a five to one bet in this tournament but after his blow up last season he is an uncertain factor. The former national champion, for years the ranking player of the world has set seriously about a campaign which he hopes will result in the recovery of his lost titles. He intends to play in the early French and British classics and all the major American tournaments when he returns from abroad. If his knee holds up he may be successful.

Richards Ineligible

With Richards ineligible, Tilden and Bill Johnston will have to carry the load in the Davis cup matches this year, and neither can be expected to turn a miracle. They are along in years and past the peak of their game. The French challengers are all youngsters.

The Wightman cup, now in the possession of the American Woman's team, also will be in jeopardy if Helen Wills does not get back on her real game and if the British are able to send over their strongest team.

IG TEAM COPS JOHNXY MOSTIL LATHROP MEET; WILDCATS WIN TRIES SUICIDE

Additional material was uncovered by Coach Ferris Scott during the senior inter-class track and field meet at Julia C. Lathrop Junior high school yesterday which the IG's clinched with 35 points without points in the 100 yard dash, which was postponed until this afternoon. The IG's rolled up most of their points in the midget and junior meets last week.

The 4H class, with such stars as Page, Gordon, Morales and Arnold, had been doped to win but the early lead of the IG's proved too heavy a handicap.

Many favorable marks were made in the field events. Denerl and Forrest tied for first honors in the high jump both clearing 5 feet, 2 inches; Howard and Stroup both put the 8-pound shot more than 40 feet while Page and Gordon both broad-jumped better than 17 feet.

The results:

70-yard dash—Gordon, first; Denerl, second; Page, third; Arnold, fourth. No time taken.

8-pound shot put—Howard, first; Stroup, second; Barnard, third; Denerl, fourth. Distance, 40 feet, 4 inches.

Broad jump—Page, first; Denerl, second; Gordon, third; Case, fourth. Distance, 17 feet, 4 inches.

High jump—Forrest and Denerl tied for first; Page third; Case, and Melsinger tied for fourth. Height, 5 feet, 2 inches.

WILDCATS BEAT PIRATES AT WILLARD SCHOOL

The Wildcats beat the Pirates, 46½ to 23½, in the first track meet between the two athletic clubs at Frances E. Willard Junior high school yesterday. Other meets between seniors, juniors, intermediates and midgets will be held to prepare the athletes for the county track meet and the dual affairs with Julia C. Lathrop. The results:

High jump—Clark (P) first; Regia (W) second; Denville (W) and Tucker (P) tied for third; Gundrum (P) and Richards (P) tied for fifth. Height, 4 feet.

5-pound shot put—Regia (W) first; Denville (W) second; Miles (W) third; Noe (W) fourth; Clark (P) fifth. Distance, 13 feet, 3 inches.

Broad jump—Tannebaum (P) first; Regia (W) second; Miles (W) third; Denville (W) fourth; Nichols (P) fifth. No time taken.

Relay—Wildcats first; Pirates second.

Walter Kinney Signs With Portland

Walter Kinney, of Santa Ana, joined the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league at its San Jose training camp today.

Kinney, a southpaw, formerly was with the Boston Red Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics. He jumped the A's in 1923 and has since been pitching independent ball. He has been working in the Brea oil fields for the past two years.

Dempsey to Scrap Heeney or Paolino

NEW YORK, March 9.—Assured by a telegram from California that Jack Dempsey intends to return to the ring, Tex Rickard announced his intention to match the former champion with either the winner of the Paolino-Heeney match, the fight to be staged in the Yankee stadium early in June.

Rickard expects Dempsey here within a short time and says that he probably will train at White Sulphur Springs.

Risko Knocks Out Huffman In Eighth

NEW YORK, March 9.—Johnny Risko, known as "the rubber boy" of Cleveland, took another step forward in the heavyweight class here last night when he knocked out Eddie Huffman, California sailor, in one minute and 20 seconds of the eighth round.

Hudkins In Line for Bout with Latzo

LOS ANGELES, March 9.—Ace Hudkins, the "Nebraska wildcat," today was established as a worthy challenger for the welterweight bauble now worn by Pete Latzo by virtue of the terrific beating he handed Bert Colima last night in their 10 round bout at Wrigley field.

When the final canto was over Colima still retained his feet for a reason unexplained with his left eye a gory clot, and his right puffed until he had but a narrow slit of vision through which to gauge his slashing, tearing foe.

In the early rounds, Colima pulled the crowd of some 20,000 fans to him, by boxing natively, and to those back a distance from the ring scoring, repeatedly. However, most of his blows fell short of a vulnerable spot, and lacked steam.

The fifth saw Hudkins settling down to his task in earnest and his barage of lefts and rights gave him a big edge in the frame.

Colima grabbed the sixth round, the slowest of the fight, merely because Hudkins elected to relinquish the lead for a time, while the Mexican batter speared and parried with his boxing talents working overtime.

In the seventh, one of Hudkins' right-hand wallop found its target above Colima's eye, and immediately the crimson started to flow. Hudkins continued to make a target of the injured optic and alternate with lefts and rights to the body that had Colima all but out on his feet at the end of the frame.

During the rest period, Hudkins told his seconds that he had injured his supposedly brittle right hand, but he carried the going enough to take the eighth by a good margin.

The ninth was given over largely to the mauling type of milling, with Hudkins coming through unscathed and Colima's right eye puffed to abnormal size.

The tenth found Colima's head a bloody mess, with Hudkins again resorting to a fierce body pummeling that almost buckled his rival up. Referee Ernie Clark's decision was well received, and although policemen escorted both battlers to their dressing room there was no demonstration of hostility.

Tony Fuente spotted "Long Tom" Hawkins 171-2 pounds, took a nine count himself in the first round, but showed remarkable recuperative powers and came back to win the decision at the end of the eighth round of the semi-windup.

Hawkins, 209-pound colored "man mountain," showed little except willingness, as he floundered about the ring and on several occasions would have fallen through the ropes had not Fuente and Referee Johnny Schiff brought him back to the zone of action.

OLIVER'S MEN FIRST IN ALL BUT ONE EVENT

Coach "Tex" Oliver's Santa Ana high school track army figuratively and literally "ran away" with its second Coast Preparatory league dual meet of the season yesterday, running amuck through the struggling ranks of Whittier high school to win every first place save one and pile up an impressive point total of 94 against 19.

The allens scored their lone ace in the 330 yard run, the first event on the afternoon's card at Poly field.

John Moffat, the fair-haired hurdler-high jumper, and Harvey Bear, the local squad's doughty captain, carried the brunt of the Santa Ana attack although they received excellent support from Coach Oliver's supernumeraries. Moffat won first places in the high and low hurdle races and cleared the bar at 5 feet 9 inches in the high jump to nose out his own brother, Manley, and two other brothers, Arthur and Robert Jacques. Bear sprinted to victories in the 100 and 220 yard races, followed in both instances by the long-legged Terry Stephenson, and got off a leap of 19 feet, 7 inches to capture the broad jump.

Brothers Fight for Honors

Moffat's exceptional mark in the high jump was somewhat nullified when it was discovered that the bar sagged several inches but accurate measurement disclosed that he had cleared 5 feet, 6 1-2 inches, his best work this season. The high jump was strictly a feud between brothers and there was considerable friendly rivalry among all concerned.

Harold Breeding was an easy winner of the mile, the brilliant campaigner easing over the four laps in 4 minutes, 57 seconds and making plenty of allowance for the sloppy condition of all the turns. Breeding won as he pleased, the best race of the day being the struggle for second place between Little Tommy Cone, the game Santa Ana, and Smith, Whittier's best miler. Cone set the pace on the last lap but Smith pulled up on even terms with him on the back stretch. They came on that way until the last 20 yards where Cone was forced back a few winches and Smith beat him out for the "place money" by a couple of yards.

Wylie Carlyle, Oliver's newly recruited quarter-miler, running his second race in competition, bettered his record of last week by moving up from second to first place. His time circling the oval was 57 seconds flat.

Moffat Wins Vault

Manley Moffat won the pole vault at 10 feet 6 inches, Judson Riley the shot put on a throw of 39 feet, 1 inch and James Musick, the discus with a heave of 93 feet, 7 inches.

A new broad jumper who answers to the name of Ralph Wiley took second to Bear in this event with a mark of 19 feet.

The results:

880 yard run—Smith (W) won; Planchon (SA) second; Eadad (W) third. Time—2 min. 14.5 sec.

100 yard dash—Bear (SA) won; Stephenson (SA) second; Adams (W) third. Time—22.9 sec.

120 high hurdles—J. Moffat (SA) won; Ehrhorn (SA) second; Jones (W) third. Time—27 sec.

440 yard run—Carlyle (SA) won; Warner (SA) second; Adams (W) third. Time—2 min. 14.5 sec.

220 yard dash—Bear (SA) won; Stephenson (SA) second; Tubbs (W) third. Time—22.9 sec.

220 low hurdles—J. Moffat (SA) won; Velarde (SA) second; Walker (W) third. Time—24 sec.

1 mile run—Breeding (SA) won; Smith (W) second; Cone (SA) third. Time—4 min. 57 sec.

Pole vault—M. Moffat (SA) won; Matthews (SA) second; Hearn (SA) third. Height—10 feet 6 inches.

High jump—J. Moffat (SA) won; M. Moffat (SA) and Jacques (SA) tied for second. Height—5 feet 9 inches.

Shot put—Riley (SA) won; Harvey (SA) second; Bowen (W) third. Distance—39 feet, 1 inch.

Broad jump—Bear (SA) won; White (SA) second; Velarde (SA) third. Distance—19 feet, 7 inches.

Relay—Wylie, Santa Ana—Blakeney, Bear, Fahlschid and Stephenson. Time—1 minute, 36 sec.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received for said franchise up to ten o'clock A. M. on the 15th day of April, 1927, and at the time above mentioned and in the board room of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, in the City of Santa Ana, California, and all sealed bids will be opened; that all bids must be for the payment of a stated sum in lawful currency and gold coin of the United States, and that the said franchise will be struck off, sold or awarded to the person or persons or corporation, present or represented, may bid for said franchise or privilege a sum not less than ten per cent above the highest sealed bid therefor, and said bid so made may be raised not less than ten per cent by any other responsible bidder, and said bidding may so continue until finally said franchise shall be struck off, sold and awarded to the highest bidder therefor in gold coin of the United States by said Board of Supervisors. Each sealed bid shall be accompanied with cash or certified check payable to the Treasurer of the County of Orange, for the full amount of said bid, and no bid shall be considered unless said cash or check is enclosed therewith and the successful bidder shall deposit at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid with the clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Orange County before the franchise shall be struck off to him. If the successful bidder shall fail to make such deposit immediately, then and in that case his bid shall not be received and shall be considered as void and the said franchise shall then and there be again offered to the bidder who shall make the necessary deposit of at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid therefor as herein provided.

The successful bidder shall deposit with the clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Orange County within twenty-four hours after the acceptance of his bid, the remaining ninety per cent of the amount thereof, and in case he or it shall fail to do so, then the said deposit therefor shall be forfeited and the said franchise shall be void. Said franchise shall then and there be again offered to the bidder who shall make the necessary deposit of at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid therefor as herein provided, and in case said party shall fail to deposit with the clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Orange County the remaining ninety per cent of his bid within twenty-four hours after its acceptance, the award to him of said franchise shall be set aside and the deposit therefor made by him shall be forfeited and no further proceedings for the sale of said franchise shall be had unless the same shall be readvertised and again offered for sale in the manner hereinbefore provided.

SEASIDE HOTEL TO MAKE WAY FOR OIL RIGS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 9.—Huntington Beach Inn, former gala seaside resort, has been leased for oil development purposes by the Richfield Oil company. An oil rig will rise soon at the rear of the structure once peopled by patrons of fashion and wealth.

If, as seems probable, oil is found, the hotel will be moved to make way for more wells. The lease includes five lots, most of which are covered by buildings. Space enough for a rig exists, however, and the hotel will be kept running by L. H. Colburn, the lessee. Most of the guests are likely to be oil drillers. The inn is at Ocean avenue and Eighth street in the eastern extension of the Huntington Beach oil field. It is adjacent to the San Martinez 4000 feet and near which most of the oil companies have been taking locations. The hotel faces the ocean.

DIVISION OF GAS TAX MONEY

It seems incredible that the board of supervisors, by the vote of two of its members, Supervisor William Schumacher, of Buena Park, and Supervisor John C. Mitchell, of Garden Grove, has failed to keep the faith of that body with the people of Santa Ana.

The word of a board of supervisors ought to be good. But the matter at issue concerns more than the mere $10,000 that had been promised to aid in the construction of extra-heavy pavement on South Main street—extra heavy because of through traffic and not because of any benefit to adjoining property owners. It concerns the principle of division of gasoline tax money, money that is added to every time a resident of this county drives into a filling station for gasoline.

For several years, there has been an agreement in existence in this county whereby the gasoline tax money of the county was divided into five parts, each part to be spent in accordance with the wishes of a county supervisor. That plan has worked satisfactorily until a condition arose.

That condition is due to the fact that numerous road districts have been organized in the county, notably in the second and third supervisorial districts. The supervisor representing each of those districts promised to give each year an agreed amount to each district. Not caring to recognize the tie-up that was coming, these promises have been made. Though unwilling to keep the promise of his predecessor to Santa Ana, Supervisor Mitchell feels he must keep his predecessor's promises to the district.

The inevitable consequence has been forthcoming. In each of these districts so much money has been promised these districts that there is not enough money left on hand to take care of the dirt roads of those districts. What easier, then, in looking for more money than to take it away from somebody else?

That may not be an entirely fair analysis of the process of mind that brought about the raid on Santa Ana, that brought about the smashing of the good faith of the board of supervisors in what was a definite promise of an appropriation, but it looks that way to the city that has been subjected to difficulties arising from the failure of the board of supervisors to keep faith.

We are not in favor of sustaining the old method of division of funds, though that method did prove harmonious until the present situation arose. We believe that the entire gasoline tax money should be turned into the good roads maintenance fund and used for general county roads purposes, thus reducing the tax bill of every taxpayer in the county. Unless some system is adopted whereby the fund is treated as a fund for the whole of the county, equal division among the five supervisorial districts is the only system that will be tenable, if harmony is to be preserved. Santa Ana, with 9000 automobiles and trucks out of a total of 37,000, surely is entitled to consideration in any expenditure of funds that is made. But a small proportion of the money has been used inside the city limits of Santa Ana, and that small amount has been fully justified because it went on a through traffic highway.

Unless the money is put into one fund for general county purposes and for the reduction of county-wide taxes, there is no reason that we know of why Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach and other incorporated cities should not claim a part of the gasoline tax money allocated to their districts under the "divie up" plan. Their claim can well be founded on the ground that through traffic throws financial burdens on a city that ought to be met from outside the city.

If the division system is to be followed, the first supervisorial district is entitled to its share just as the second and third districts are entitled to their shares. If the division system is given up, well and good; we are for giving it up, provided it goes into the general roads maintenance fund.

ASKING OF QUESTIONS

It is the easiest thing in the world to ask questions. Nobody knows that better than a newspaperman. A newspaperman knows full well, too, that there are two kinds of questions, one asked for the purpose of developing information fairly and the other for the purpose of putting the person questioned in the hole, which questioning—unintentionally perhaps—may be unfair.

The Register in gathering news tries to confine its questions to the first-named class. It is our experience that those who are approached fairly, even though opposed to the views held by The Register, are perfectly willing to answer questions.

It is also our experience that the reporter who gives the impression of unfairness, who appears, whether intentional or not, to be trying to put somebody in the hole, is likely to find that he is interviewing one whose mouth closes just as the proverbial clam is supposed to close.

All of this is said in an off-hand manner as a result of the publication in the Public Forum column of The Register of a list of questions directed by L. A. Sweet to candidates for city trustee of Santa Ana. It is not likely that any candidate will attempt to answer Mr. Sweet's questions. It is not likely that Mr. Sweet has expected that they would. So far as most of the questions are concerned, they have been answered in information given in news items.

We do not like to let the occasion pass without correcting one wrong impression given in Mr. Sweet's questionnaire. He indicated that the city trustees had agreed to give Dr. Aronovich, city planner, a "bonus" in addition to his salary. No such bonus is provided for in the contract and none is contemplated.

SENATORIAL KNOTS

Vice-President Dawes stands justified.

The last week in the senate was a nightmare of filibustering, wrangling, confusion, ill temper and general ineptness. The senate tied itself into knots, making the transaction of business almost impossible, just at a time when it was especially desirable for that body to be calm, clearheaded and efficient.

Nearly all of that nonsense and inefficiency could have been avoided by cloture. Is there any private business organization in the world that would let a dog-in-the-manger minority block all constructive action?

THE MOST PROFITABLE PLAY

Anne Nichols, who has made $5,000,000 out of "Abie's Irish Rose," now sells the film rights for $2,300,000, plus royalties. Meanwhile the play is to continue on the speaking stage. She will probably make $10,000,000 out of it before she gets through.

Pretty good for a young woman who was recently working for $18 a week, and for a play that she is said to have written in five days.

Pretty good for American drama, too, whether you believe that "Abie's Irish Rose" is drama or not. Her spectacular success inspires hundreds of other young authors to seek fortune and fame by the same route, and some of them will write good plays.

There is no other occupation or art that is such a gamble. A famous playwright may lay himself out to write a masterpiece, and produce a dud. An untied writer may produce something that catches the public taste and scores a big success. That is what makes the drama such a fascinating game for writers, and why every newspaper man is said to have a play in his pocket.

To Save The Careless

A bill calling for a bond issue of $25,000,000 for the purpose of eliminating grade crossings in this state has been introduced in the legislature now in session. One editor in commenting on this says: "Either we will pay money and save human lives, or we will lose lives to pay for our saving money." And that just about hits the nail on the head.

But the manifestly urgent need to spend this huge sum for this purpose shows, too, how costly carelessness is.

Every motorist knows, or should know, where rails are laid for the accommodation of trains, of trains that usually are on time, but sometimes are not.

Every motorist knows, or should know, that on the road watchfulness is the best policy.

But though they know these things, all and several, still the grade-crossing casualty lists grow by leaps and bounds.

To save the careless from the results of their carelessness is expensive, as the $25,000,000 figure eloquently demonstrates.

Is it the only thing to do?

Silence Wins Fame

Those who may believe that the only way to secure attention is to figure as a party to sensational litigation may consider the two boys of Tonopah who walked into town with samples of ore which assay $78,000 to the ton.

The boys have the ore and won't tell where they found it. Tonopah waits the revealing hint to start a rush. Men stand ready beside their fully-primed automobiles and when that signal is given the whole town will join the race. The two boys of Tonopah are keeping their own counsel because one wishes to wait until his father returns from the south.

In the meantime an historic mining city looks upon samples of a kind to kindle the imagination and promise untold riches, one which delivers an eloquent assurance that somewhere in the surrounding territory is a deposit which may write a new chapter in Nevada's romantic story. Everyone watches the two boys, treats them well, and regards them as famous. And because they are saying nothing.

NOSE CAN BE CAUSE OF MUCH TROUBLE

Some people are never happy unless they are manipulating some of their organs with the idea that they are improving their health habits.

The nose is a peculiar organ under the best of circumstances. It was presumably developed for purpose of breathing with the idea that the passage of air through it would warm cold air and screen out dust and germs. The warming of the cold air is accomplished by the sinuses, which are not infrequently the seat of infection.

Of these sinuses there are six, two frontal sinuses just above the eyebrows, the ethmoid sinus which opens into the upper part of the nasal cavity, the two maxillary sinuses in the upper jaw bone on either side of the nose and the sphenoid sinus back of the nose.

These sinuses are lined with membranes which tend to become inflamed when the person catches cold or develops any of the infectious diseases which center about the nose and throat. When the inflammation occurs, there is a liberal secretion of fluid into the sinuses.

In the case of infection, the fluid must drain freely from the nose. This cannot be accomplished if there are physical obstructions such as enlargements of any portions, or deflection of the structures that cause blocking. The correction of such misconstructions is obviously a job for an expert.

If deformities are present, the use of lotions, antiseptics, or washes of any kind can do little good and may do much harm. It is safe to say that nasal washes should not be used regularly, except on the advice of a physician.

Sometimes, particularly in large cities, where the air is full of dust and soot, or in poorly ventilated rooms where the atmosphere is dry, persons may be annoyed by dryness and crusting on the nasal membranes. In the out-door air the natural power of these membranes to secrete fluid will keep crusts normal and permit them to be easily removed with the handkerchief. If the air in doors is so dry as to cause an undue amount of crusting, the correction should be applied to the ventilation and not to the nose.

Unquestionably infection is sometimes transmitted by the nose to hand method. It is safer to avoid inserting the finger or anything else into the nostrils.

Babies and little children not infrequently stick beans, peas, or other objects into the nose. If the child will blow the nose it may remove the object. The parent should not attempt to get anything out of the baby's nose with instruments, and a hairpin must be included under the instrument category. Anything in the child's nose requiring instrumental removal is a job for a doctor.

The Only One Who Ever Clubbed His Way In

Why Lesser Newspapers Fail

Kansas City Times

A news item yesterday invites attention to a process that has been going on rapidly in recent years—the weeding out of the lesser newspapers. The item told of the absorption of the Cleveland Times by the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

For many years the Leader was the foremost newspaper in Cleveland. Then the Plain Dealer came to the front. The Leader declined, the owners finally refused to carry the loss longer, and the Plain Dealer took it over. The Times was established to take the Leader's place. Now it has disappeared.

The same history is being repeated throughout the country. The St. Louis Republic, after an existence of more than a century, finally went under and was merged with the Globe-Democrat. The Des Moines Capital recently went to its successful competitor, the Register. New York City is strewn with the wrecks of newspapers that could not maintain themselves against the established papers. The Globe, the Mail and Express, the Sun, the Herald, to mention only the most conspicuous, were taken over by competitors or were discontinued.

In Chicago the case of the old Record and Herald, combined as the Record-Herald, became famous. Approximately 25 million dollars was spent to put that newspaper on its feet. Finally it was sold for a few hundred thousand dollars, the price of its Associated Press franchise.

The reason for these developments probably is not generally understood by the public, although it is perfectly familiar to publishers. With the growth of the service, and with the increased cost of production since the war, newspaper publication has become enormously expensive. The amount of revenue available to the newspaper in any city is limited. Even in great industrial centers with a million population, like Cleveland and St. Louis, the possible revenue will support only one morning paper. The paper that deserves this revenue gets it. Its rivals starve.

The successful paper becomes the recognized advertising medium. People turn to it to learn what to buy because they know it carries all the advertising worth while. The inferior paper languishes until the owners tire of making up the deficit. Then it goes to the wall.

The fate of the Cleveland Times is simply an illustration of a universal tendency.

THAT SIMPLE AIR

Come, play me that simple air again
I used so to love in life's young day,
And bring, if thou canst, the dreams that then
Were wakened by that sweet lay.
The tender gloom its strain
Shed o'er the heart and brow
Grief's shadow without its pain—
Say where, where is it now?
But play me the well known air once more,
For thought of youth still haunts its strain,
Like dreams of some far, fairy shore
We never shall see again.

Sweet air, how every note brings back
Some sunny hope, some daydream bright,
That, shining o'er life's early track,
Filled even its tears with light.
The new found life that came.
With love's first echoed vow—
The fear, the bliss, the shame—
Ah—where, where are they now?
But, still the same loved notes prolong,
For sweet 'twere thus, to that old lay,
In dreams of youth and love and song,
To breathe life's hour away.

I was watching my sister Gladdis fixing her complexion in her room, and I said, G, Gladdis, I wish I had a cent.

Wat goods a cent with the high cost of living in its present condition, nobody can do anything with a cent, Gladdis said, and I said, Well I can, believe me, if I had a cent I could buy a lollipop and have fun for 2 hours.

Far be it from me to deprive a fellow mortal of such happiness as to live an expense to myself, Gladdis said.

And she gave me a cent, me saying, G, thanks. And just then I had an idea, saying, I could do even more with a nickel, if I had a nickel, G roozem if I had a nickel do you know wat I could do?

Im dying to know, Gladdis said, and I said, I could get a hardwood top with a topcord and everything, and G look at all the exercise Id get spinning it, and wen I got tired of it, if I ever did, I could probably swap it for something even better.

I feel weak and sentimental today, give me back the cent and Ill exchange it for a nickel, Gladdis said.

Wich she did, me saying, O boy, thanks. Wich jest then I had another idea, saying, And G wizzickers, Gladdis, if I can do that with a nickel jest imagine wat I could do with a dime.

My imagination grows dizzy at the very thawt, hand back the nickel and Ill exchange it, Gladdis said.

Heer it is, I sed. And she took it, saying, Ill exchange it for this. Meaning a push in the frunt of my face.

Love of Long Words

Kansas City Star

William James, the psychologist, will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber.

Benjamin Franklin lived in a formal, not to say pompous, age. But when he wrote his "Autobiography" it was in simple words. "Then I walked up the street, gazing about till near the market house I met a boy with bread. I had made many a meal on bread, and, inquiring where he got it, I went immediately to the baker's he directed me to in Second street, and asked for basket." Milton was not noted for simplicity, but there are fine passages in "Paradise Lost" like this:

"Know ye not, then," said Satan filled with scorn;
"Know ye not me? Ye knew me once no mate
For you there sitting where ye durst not soar."

Or consider one of the great passages in "In Memoriam," where Tennyson voices his hope in the midst of profound grief:

Oh, yet we trust that somehow good
Will be the final goal of ill,
To pang of Nature, sins of will,
Defects of doubt and taints of blood

That nothing walks with aimless feet;
That not one life shall be destroyed,
Or cast as rubbish to the void,
When God hath made the pile complete.

If the long word fills the need, by all means let it be used, but with full understanding of the loss involved. In general esquipaladlan verbiage should be assiduously avoided—this last sentence being the horrible example.

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord which made heaven and earth. He

Our sympathy to President Coolidge who at last has received official warning that he is past the first flush of youth. His physicians have told him to go easy on his breakfast.

It might be urged that the first warning comes when a man discovers that the telephone directory is poorly printed and can't be read. His complaint about it only to receive the discouraging suggestion from his wife that he had better see an oculist. The result is spectacles. The affair, of course, is annoying. But then even children have to wear glasses, so the visit to the oculist isn't really so serious. It isn't to be counted as a direct notice of fading youth. Besides one can put up with glasses with no positive distress.

But then comes the day when the doctor in the annual once-over, remarks: "Getting a little overweight. Puts too much strain on the heart. Better cut down on the diet. What do you eat for breakfast?" Very little, the victim confesses. Some fruit, meat, cakes, coffee, toast. "Cut out the meat and cakes," says the doctor without batting an eye. "Also do sitting up exercises for ten minutes before breakfast."

That is the sentence that really brings home to a man that he is getting on the period of the sere and yellow leaf. The monotony of sitting up exercises is sufficiently bad. But the loss of little pig sausage and wheat cakes! Ah, that gets us where we live. We may compromise with the medical man as President Coolidge did. We may surrender the sausage and cling to the cakes. But we know henceforth we can no longer lead a carefree life, eating what we please. We must begin to give up things we like. We never are the same again.

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

If all of us could feel a more personal and intimate interest in our Uncle Sam political machinery and those individuals who influence him for selfish interests might find it harder to force their way with him. How often we hear people ask what is the use of concerning oneself about law and government as they can't change things anyway. That is a grave fallacy for the nation's governing mind is only the aggregate expression of the individual minds which concern themselves about Uncle Sam's business. We should train our children to take a personal interest in national affairs for what Uncle Sam does and says will be determined by them when they do the voting.

ON POLICY OF

from which Finley desired to make the appropriation, is not apportioned legally by supervisory districts, there is said to have been an agreement whereby it is equally divided between the five districts. Each supervisor has been expending his share in his own district, excepting Finley, whose district is comprised entirely of the city of Santa Ana. Finley's share has been expended in other districts, chiefly for the improvement of roads leading into Santa Ana. Until he asked for a $30,000 appropriation to aid in the paving of East First street and South Main street, a few months ago, none of the funds had been spent in his own district. The $30,000 was promised and $20,000 of it was spent on the state highway on East First street, the South Main street portion being held up by yesterday's vote.

Finley Appears Helpless

Because a four-fifths vote is necessary, under the law, to authorize an appropriation of county gas tax funds within any incorporated city, Finley appears to be helpless under the present alignment, observers say, to get any share of funds for his district. At the same time, he is equally helpless to prevent the Schumacher group from appropriating his share of the gas tax funds for their districts, because merely a majority, not a four-fifths vote, is required to appropriate funds for roads outside of incorporated cities.

Yesterday's controversy was precipitated by the appearance of City Trustees F. L. Purinton and S. E. Goode, who asked the board of supervisors to reverse its refusal of a week ago when, with Jeffrey absent, Schumacher and Mitchell had out-voted Finley and Smith.

Mayor Purinton reminded the supervisors of the $30,000 promise, and said that the promise of the $10,000 that had not yet been received, had been relayed by the city council to the South Main street property owners. The city council, he said, proposed to match the county appropriation with $10,000 it had accumulated in the city motor vehicle fund. Purinton pointed out that the supervisors had never notified the city that the promise had been rescinded.

Schumacher promptly answered the mayor, saying that he had voted for the $20,000 appropriation for East First street, but could not approve of additional appropriations for Santa Ana.

"That is setting Santa Ana out in preference to other cities. Do you think that is fair?" he asked Purinton.

"I am not going to answer that question. But I think it is fair to spend tax money where it is collected," Purinton retorted. "These are through streets," he added, "and it is not fair to ask the property owners along those streets to pay for the extra heavy paving that is required there because they are through arteries of traffic."

"The fair way is to treat all cities alike, and we wouldn't have enough money to make appropriations for all the cities in the county," Schumacher insisted.

Purinton reiterated that the money had been promised. Supervisor Jeffrey, at that point, inquired of Nat Neff, highway superintendent and former Santa Ana street superintendent, what the South Main street paving would cost, and was told it would reach about $80,000, being planned 10 inches deep in the center and eight inches on the sides.

"I'll not support the appropriation," Schumacher remarked.

Jeffrey spoke in a bantering tone to Purinton: "You wouldn't ask for any more if you got this, would you?"

"I'm asking for only what was promised," answered the mayor. Supervisors Smith, Jeffrey and Finley, and Neff agreed that there had been an understanding that the $10,000 was to be appropriated for South Main street when the work was ready to be started.

"I was not a party to such a promise," declared Schumacher. Purinton was under the impression that Schumacher had been present at the time, but the chairman denied this and the mayor did not positively dispute the point.

Measure Doomed to Defeat

With Schumacher denying his part in the promise and Mitchell refusing to be bound by promise that his predecessor, former Chairman T. B. Talbert, had made, the motion, when it came soon afterward, was doomed to defeat.

"I'll vote yes, because I am going to keep my word," declared Jeffrey.

When the vote was announced that the two in favor of the motion, Finley was apparently under the impression that the majority was ample and the motion had carried. He thanked his colleagues, and for the first time stated his position.

"I feel," he said, "that it is only just that at least part of the tax money should be expended reasonably near to the locality where it is collected. Santa Ana pays about one-fourth of the gas tax of the entire county and contributes annually about $126,280 to the road moneys of the county. Though it is an incorporated city, it includes hundreds of acres of undivided acreage, where road conditions are similar to those of rural districts."

Schumacher States Position

Schumacher likewise stated his position. "I am not against the city of Santa Ana," he said, "but I'm standing for a square deal to the other cities. Santa Ana has no county roads to take care of, as the other districts have, yet here is Santa Ana demanding one-fifth of the money. If I had Fullerton, for example, alone in my district, it would be different, but there are other cities. And I do not think the people of Santa Ana want to take such an advantage."

"They do not want any advantage, but they expect what was promised them, and I think the city officials are due some consideration with respect to that promise," insisted Mayor Purinton, refusing to be diverted from the subject of the board's promise.

Finley answered Schumacher with the statement that, so far as having roads to take care of is concerned, Santa Ana spent more than a half million in care of its streets and roads during the last four years, besides donating its share of the gas tax funds to the other districts, which we were glad to do," he said. "This is the first time we have asked for anything," he added.

Jerome Hastens to Correct County Auditor W. C. Jerome took occasion at that point to correct Mayor Purinton's impression that "the law was wrong in not providing cities a share in the gas tax funds."

"The law is all right and does provide that cities can share in these funds," said Jerome. "Santa Ana or any other city in the county has a right to come in here and ask for some of this money. The law says so. A third of all the gas tax collected for Los Angeles county is spent in the city of Los Angeles."

Jerome today made public the amounts contributed by Santa Ana to road moneys of the county. The city, he said, pays a fourth of the gas tax and an eighth of all other road funds, except the fund raised upon the 40-cent tax rate for roads outside of incorporated cities. The various items are as follows: General fund, $2500; bridge fund, $7500; county good roads, $37,900; retiring bonds and interest, $10,600; gas tax (estimating that only 25 per cent of the tax is paid in Santa Ana, whereas the official figures will show from 30 to 33 per cent), $63,000; total, $126,280.

The amounts, said Jerome, are quoted in round figures, held conservatively below the actual sums, as in the case of the gas tax estimate.

County Assessor Sleeper said today that there are 37,000 autos and trucks in the county, of which 9000 are in Santa Ana.

played to perfection by Lawrence Phillips, who is introduced as "of Chicago—and Paris." Overbrimming with politeness and such gentlemanly graces as endear him to femininity, Shields finds it hard to realize that the so-called country bumpkin, Chester Binney, can steal Ethel Simmons from him.

A difficult role is that of James Dugan, but well done. As the jealous fiancé of Letty Lythe, motion picture actress, he creates much amusement by his towering rages, which are so easily wiped away by flattery. His big scene, at least his loudest, is the fight in the dark, for when the lights are flashed on after a moment of utter darkness one finds furniture overturned, clothes torn and Roger Shields in a pitiful condition.

After last night's performance, one wonders why Lavinia O'Toole has not entered the motion picture world, for her performance on the stage as Letty Lythe, actress, was most convincing. Pretty, chic and altogether adorable was Miss O'Toole and enough excuse for any man to be jealous to the extent of fighting for her.

Maid's Work Praiseworthy

A most proper maid was Ethel Osterman, who is expected to do some important work in community plays of the future. In "Enter Madame" she displayed an unusual sense of values as a character actress and proved her ability again last night in playing a part entirely different from the one in "Enter Madame."

Minor roles which were featured by consistently good work were those of Melvina Frye, as Sadie Bloom, the dancing teacher; Mary Cianfoni and Mary Arnold, two charming friends of Ethel, and Harold Fish, as the taxi driver.

Preceding the play and between the acts music was provided by the Lathrop junior high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Edith Cornell.

"The Whole Town's Talking" will be repeated tonight, Wednesday night and Thursday night, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, in the Temple theater.

FEARS WATER DISTRICT BILL
WOULD BE UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Editor Register: Editors of the county papers and other citizens, who have kept track of the conservation of water question, must remember the bill passed by the legislature five or six years ago, authorizing the formation of water districts in the basins of the streams of the state, which bill was found to be unconstitutional and was dropped at that time as worse than useless.

Now I have not seen the bill for the same purpose pending in the present legislature and to be discussed by the county chamber of commerce at Fullerton, next Thursday evening; but from the reference to it in the Orange News I am afraid it embodies similar unconstitutional features to those that killed the other bill. Note the following extracts from the News' description of the pending bill:

"Supporters of the bill in its present form believe that the provision is just, because real estate, they believe, gets the most benefit from such a district, and, further, the cost would be more equitably distributed in this way because hundreds of acres affected are not improved."

"The supporters also are averse to having the bill amended, because they say that numerous amendments would doubtless result in such delay that the bill could not be enacted at this session of the legislature and must wait two years. Unless amended, they say, it would probably pass without opposition, as it concerns only Orange county."

It thus appears to describe a "district" and the funds for the expense of the improvement must be raised by taxing only the "real estate," since such property gets the greater "benefit" from the improvement. But California's present constitution requires all kinds of property to be taxed, except such as the constitution itself exempts from taxation. Then, too, there are many citizens who have all their means invested in other kinds of

Editor Register: The need of some evergreen growth to cover over our large watershed that was so recently denuded by fire is so great that it should be our duty to offer any suggestion that would be the means of overcoming our great loss. The loss of vegetation to hold our winter rains is not the only liability with which we are faced. For those of you who have never witnessed a regular, old-fashioned downpour of rain over a burned-over mountain area, I will say you are fortunate indeed.

Various trees and shrubs would likely be of value, but for the fact that they are not available in sufficient quantities, or that the cost would be prohibitive, has eliminated them at the present time. I believe we have the very thing we need right here in Orange county, and enough to supply the demand. If there is a plant in the state of California that will stand any more abuse than the date palm, I have yet to make its acquaintance. A California horned toad and our seedling date tree can get along with less visible means of support than any other specimens of plant or animal life. If there is anything more restful to the eye than a grove of these palms, I have yet to see it. For a game refuge, it would be a Gibraltar, for the nimrod who would chase a deer or a quail into a grove of them would come out empty handed, and he would spend the rest of his week-end pulling spikes out of pants and shirt. For tanking up on water, the camel may have them beaten a little, but the branches are built to retain the maximum amount of moisture—enough to carry them over a long spell. For seeding the ground they cover, they have no equal, seed that will germinate close to 100 per cent is borne by the bushel on each adult tree. If any of these statements need to be verified, drive out to Mr. Dugan's home at Ocean avenue and Buaro road, a short distance due east of Garden Grove. The sight of his driveway of palms will repay you for your trouble and you will find hundreds of pounds of date seed just right for planting on a place that needs our especial attention, not next year, but NOW. Tons of this seed can be collected in a few days, and a sharp stick would be the only tool needed to plant them. One other qualification that they have, and one that is of the utmost importance: Just how you would go about setting a grove of these palms on fire would require considerable thought. Off hand, I would say that Old Nick himself would give up the job in disgust, for it just can't be done, for their lower branches do not die back like their relative, the fan palm, that flourishes in the rock canyons near Palm Springs and numerous other places along the desert of the Colorado.

Thousands of people drive for miles to see these specimens of trees that likely were standing there when Columbus was lobbying around the Spanish court trying to get enough cash to discover America. Anyway, they need no arguments as to their desirability in that respect. For withstanding drought, they are exceptional, having on their feathery branches of fibrous roots that are just like a piece of rope to cut, and by the way, I think for this feature they would be ideal for planting along any levee for river protection. I am pretty busy now, but will drop my work for a few days at any time to help plant the seed. Two or three men and some Boy Scouts could collect enough seed next Saturday to keep everyone in Orange county busy planting for quite a spell, so let us go and quit talking about it.

Amazing Improvement in Mrs. Jester's Health
Surprises Friends. Serious Ailments Caused by Nervous Breakdown Relieved and Strength Restored
by Tanlac. Looks and Feels Better Than Ever

"Tanlac has certainly done wonders for me; I cannot praise it enough," declares Mrs. T. D. Jester, 1258 Pennsylvania Avenue, San Diego, Calif. "I had suffered a nervous breakdown and for many months afterward I continued to get worse and worse, despite all the different nerve medicine I tried. Nothing seemed to help until I tried Tanlac."

"I was as near to being a complete nervous and physical wreck as I could be, without entirely collapsing. The slightest noise would make me want to scream, and after retiring it would be hours before I could sleep. I would awaken with terrible nervous headaches and the slightest exertion would tire me out so that I would be trembling. I lost weight and appetite. I tried Tanlac with little expectation of improvement."

"Before I had taken all of the first bottle, I developed a ravenous appetite, and was sleeping better. I continued to improve rapidly and felt like a different person entirely in less than three weeks I had gained seven pounds. Later, my weight went up from 105 to 125 pounds."

If your troubles are similar to those from which Mrs. Jester suffered so keenly, get relief before it is too late. Tanlac will doubtless help you just as it has helped thousands of other sufferers. Tanlac is a pure and wholesome compound, made from herbs, roots and barks, according to the famous Tanlac formula. It is a wonderful tonic medicine, for run-down and nervous conditions and for digestive disorders. All good druggists sell Tanlac—get your first bottle today! Over 40 million bottles sold.

75,000 BRAND NEW CHICKENS HATCHED DAILY

Incubator Plant Has Capacity of 1,800,000 Baby Fowls Every 3 Weeks

Petaluma, Calif., March 9.—Seventy-five thousand new orphans every 24 hours!

That reads like the start of some gigantic catastrophe, but in reality it is quite constant.

The 75,000 is the total of baby chicks hatched each day in the peak run of an incubator plant costing a half million dollars which has just opened here. The plant has a hatching capacity of 1,800,000 chickens every three weeks.

Man has harnessed electricity to do the work, so that it may well be said that electricity has become "the greatest mother of them all."

Plant Is Enormous

The capacity of this plant is said to be nearly double that of any other hatchery in the world. It represents the rapid progress made by Petaluma, already famous as "the world's egg basket," since 1925, when Leo A. Bourke, head of the hatchery, erected a plant of 900,000-chick hatchery.

Bourke is one of these "single-track" men you often hear about. Ten years ago he started with the idea that electricity would be a better and more faithful mother to chicks than would the brood hen or any other heating agency previously used for artificial incubation of eggs.

His first hatchery handled 100,000 chicks each three weeks. By 1923, when fire destroyed the plant, its capacity had gone to 400,000. Bourke rebuilt on a scale of 600,000 capacity, but in less than four years has grown to three times that size.

High Voltage Stepped Down Electricity is brought into the plant over 4000-volt wires, and stepped down in voltage and amperage to meet hatching needs. None of the great manufacturing plant of the San Francisco Bay region use as much electricity as this egg hatchery.

Here are the statistics revealing the extent of the enterprise:

250,000 hens laying eggs for the hatchery.
100,000 eggs set each day.
75,000 chicks hatched each day.
1,800,000 eggs total capacity.
180,000 eggs to each of 10 aisles of incubators.
3780 separate incubators.

Nothing is left to chance. The eggs are turned each 20 minutes by helpers who work all around the 24 hours of the clock.

Not only is this the largest hatchery in the world, but similar plants also located here turn out an equal volume of newly hatched chicks.

All but 1 per cent is of the White Leghorn variety, to be raised both for food and laying purposes.

COWS MAY GET TWO MONTH REST

MADISON, Wis., March 9.—Forcing milk production records from dairy cows in 365-day tests is injurious to the cows and dairy men, says B. H. Hibbard, economic and recently elected president of the Brown Swiss Breeders' Association of America.

Hibbard declares that a 305-day test will serve as well and will allow a two-month rest for the cows. A cow producing more than 50 pounds of milk daily cannot eat and digest enough food to replace entirely losses in the milk, he claims.

"In addition to weakening the cow, the year test has a serious effect on the calves, causing them to be poorly nourished and rickety," Hibbard explains.

"The two-month rest has many advantages. It adds the cow to store up a surplus to tide over the demands of the succeeding milk flow."

Hibbard believes that dairymen should eliminate the year test and depend upon the 10-month records as a fair measure of comparative ability.

BOYS LEAVING FARM CAUSE GIRL SUICIDES

NEW YORK, March 9.—There are far too many girls on American farms at present, is the declaration made at an executive session of the Southern Women's Educational Alliance held here.

The meeting was devoted to a discussion of the problem of finding work for the rural girl.

Dorothy Nelson, research assistant at the University of Virginia, remarked there are now on the farms more girls than are needed, either as workers or as potential farmers' wives.

The problem was created, said speakers at the meeting, by the rural boys' departure to seek employment in cities, leaving a surplus of girls on the farms.

It is the aim of the alliance to find a way of bringing the girls vocations by which they could employ their time profitably.

Grinding roughage for dairy cattle is of doubtful economic value, according to C. C. Hayden, head of the dairy department of the Ohio experiment station.

Plan to Promote High Standards in Poultry Business

The Southern California Farm Bureau Accredited Breeders and Hatcheries Project was initiated three years ago for the purpose of improving the quality of the baby chicks in the seven southern counties of the state. At the time of organization many hatcheries of the southland were obtaining eggs from uncured flocks which naturally contained all kinds of hens, some good and some poor reproducers. It was with the idea of bettering those conditions that the project was organized, its sponsors believing that such a plan would offer protection to the purchasers of baby chicks and breeders of stock. Three years ago, called for the supervision and inspection of the breeding flocks and incubator establishments of members by a paid inspector, whose duty it was to cull and grade the flocks which supplied eggs to the accredited hatcheries.

Organized four years ago to promote the raising of high-grade poultry in Southern California, so as to enable breeders in this section to secure eggs and chicks of the highest quality right here at home, the project has met with marked success in raising the poultry standards and in educating Southern California poultry raisers as to the quality of the product raised here.

Prior to the organization of the Accredited Breeders and Hatcheries Project, efforts of Southern California poultrymen to raise the standards of poultry raising were unorganized and outside hatcheries were each year shipping into Southern California hundreds of thousands of hatching eggs and chicks. Now, as a result of activities of members of the project, the shipments of outside hatcheries have been substantially reduced and Southern California poultry raising is beginning to receive the recognition which is its due.

Members of the accredited project are allowed to sell chicks, hatching eggs and breeding stock bearing the stamp of approval provided by the board of control of the project. All the certificates issued and delivered with the chicks, eggs or breeding stock purchased. A report made by the secretary of the project in September, 1926, shows that there are now 137 breeders and hatcheries in its membership with a total hatching capacity of 621,940 eggs, a substantial increase over the 400,000 of the previous year.

The plan provides for the selection and classification of breeding flocks according to the supervision of the feeding and care of accredited flocks. The age of breeding stock and the weight and quality of hatching eggs are also taken into consideration. Provision is made for tests to determine the viability of chicks. All the experience is obtained by means of this grading of the breeding stock, size, color and type being closely watched.

Certain rules are laid down for the poultrymen to follow in their efforts to secure hatching eggs that will produce good livable chicks. Accredited flocks are made up of hens at least twelve months old that have passed through a complete molt; in other words, no pullet breeding is allowed. No forcing for egg production of the breeding hens is allowed for members of the project. All the experience is obtained by means of this grading of the breeding stock, size, color and type being closely watched.

Incubators, eggs and chicks in an accredited flock or hatchery are subject to official inspection at any time, and an accredited hatchery can sell nothing but accredited chicks.

The Southern California Farm Bureau Accredited Breeders and Hatcheries Project functions through a board of control composed of the following representative poultrymen of Southern California: M. A. Schofield, Gardena, chairman; E. C. Hogsett, Pomona, secretary; E. J. Hauser, Fontana; S. H. Yabres, Upland; E. E. Elsenberg, Riverside; Mrs. E. H. Wentworth, San Diego and A. E. Block, Costa Mesa. Herbert A. Hogsett, of Pomona, was recently added to the personnel of the project in the capacity of deputy inspector.

SMALL CHANCE OF 'T. B.' IN POULTRY

The danger of transmitting avian tuberculosis to human life is extremely remote in California, according to S. S. Knight, a prominent poultryman of Petaluma, who was on a recent visit to Orange County.

Mr. Knight has been appointed on the United States livestock committee of the department of agriculture, and the purpose of his visit here was in connection with his work of checking up on poultry sanitation and the prevalence of tuberculosis. He stated that he had been unable to find any infection in California, and pointed out that cooking would destroy the germ had any been found, so the danger was negligible in any event. Furthermore, it has never been proven that avian tuberculosis is transmissible to humans.

Mr. Knight recently made a survey of the poultry conditions in the middle west, where he found poultry diseases prevalent and the housing conditions far from ideal. He stated there was grave danger to the poultry industry from the importation of diseases from these sections. To prevent this importation, Mr. Knight is a strong advocate of the "buy-at-home" campaign when applied to poultry.

"California flocks are exceptionally well housed and free from diseases," declared Mr. Knight. "We can keep our flocks clean by being careful of our importation of poultry and baby chicks, and our purchases for restocking should always be made west of the Rocky Mountains."

According to Prof. Fluharty's summary of the records of these 28 typical walnut groves, the average investment per acre amounted to $1711.14, segregated as follows: trees $453.41; improvements $43.90; equipment $35.55 and land $1083. The interest on these items at six per cent amounts to $101.15. The depreciation $32.75 per acre.

The average depreciable investment per acre in the study was valued at $1815.27, divided into trees, $6719.50; improvements, $1232.96; and equipment, $1233.91. The average depreciation on the above items for the farms surveyed were 4.71 per cent for trees, 5.05 per cent for improvements and 11.75 per cent for equipment.

The total income for 23 farms out of the 28 for 1926 was $34,048.76 or a per acre income of $95.74. The average selling price for the nuts, including all grades and sizes, was $1.25 per bushel.

The actual cash and labor expenses which the grower had to meet during the year averaged $63.76 per acre or 12.67 cents per pound for the small crop that was harvested. This was divided as follows: tree work (pruning, bracing, disease work) $4.59 per acre; cultivation (plowing, subsoiling, cultivation) $11.97 per acre; irrigation (furnishing, water, shoveling) $12.99 per acre; harvesting, $12.33 per acre; material $14.64 per acre; miscellaneous $4.34 per acre and general expense $2.25 per acre.

Total Cost of Production

The total cost per pound was unusually high for the period covered by the study, the average of 505 pounds per acre due to unfavorable climatic conditions in the early spring and winter of 1926.

The total labor, cash, depreciation and interest (not including land) charge per acre amounted to $132.67 or 26.35 cents per pound. Adding interest charge on land of $55.00 per acre, and a very conservative supervisory charge of $9.88 per acre, brings the grand total cost to $207.55 per acre or 41.23 cents per pound.

Farmers who intend to plant flax are warned to have the seed tested for germination as much flaxseed was damaged last fall by wet weather during the harvesting and threshing period.

In grade 1-A, males may be used if they have 200-egg record dams. In grade 2-A, both the dams and sires' dams of the males must have egg records of 200 eggs in their pullet years. In grade 3-A, the dams and sires' dams of the males must have egg records of 250 eggs in the pullet years. Grades 4-A and 5-A are what are termed breeders' grade, and are designed to furnish foundation stock to breeders. These grades require trapped females as well as higher pedigreed males.

The value of the total citrus shipments was $5,540,075. This included $6,494,161 for oranges; $1,263,630 for lemons; and $732,284 for grapefruit.

For the eleven-month period beginning January 1, 1926, practically all of Canada's imports of fresh fruits came from the United States. Of the citrus imports this country furnished 93 per cent of the oranges and 59 per cent of the lemons, a considerable increase on the latter over previous years. Citrus fruit competition was keenest from Italy, which formed about 40 per cent (126,322 boxes) of the Canadian imports of that fruit.

Golden State Fruits Leads In New Zealand

In a report published by the United States department of commerce, attention is called to the favorable position of California oranges and lemons in the New Zealand market. Quantities of both these fruits arrived on the first steamer after the opening of the year embargo and California will readily regain her former position of preference, according to the consular report. It is stated that citrus fruits represent about 40 per cent of the retailer's annual turnover in New Zealand. California oranges are preferred to those of other countries for their superior quality over cheaper grades of other island oranges. Lemons are used extensively in cooking and make the most popular beverages during the summer. California lemons are greatly superior to the domestic product in quality and to other importations in standard of grade and keeping quality.

The purchasing power of foreign countries for agricultural products of 1927 doubtless will show some improvement, but that does not mean that our exports will increase materially. On the contrary it is probable that larger foreign production of bread-stuffs, fruits and animal products will reduce foreign demand for our exportable surpluses of these products.

To chase away a little of the gloom that may be superinduced by these predictions the report says that a slightly larger supply of farm labor will probably be available in regions adjacent to industrial centers, and wages may be lower. No appreciable changes in prices of farm machinery and building materials are to be expected, but wholesale prices of farm products are expected to be lower than last year.

The new government, in the annual agricultural outlook report, is advising farmers to cut practically all other crops. Wheat growers are warned that they can hardly expect to receive returns for the 1927 crop similar to those which have prevailed for the 1926 crop, especially if production should be materially increased.

As to corn, the report says the demand for the 1927 crop is expected to be little if any greater than for the 1926 crop. With probably increases of corn acreage in the south and with no prospect of increased demand, growers are faced with the likelihood of lower prices unless acreage is substantially reduced.

Oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, hay, potatoes, sweet potatoes, cabbages, onions, beans, oranges, grapefruit, apples, peaches, grapes, strawberries, cantaloupes and watermelons are other farm products the production of which should be held steady or curtailed this season, according to the government experts.

Livestock production, it is stated, should be held at about the present level, allowing for the increase in population from year to year, in order to maintain prices. The dairy industry, on the other hand, is reported to be on a stronger basis than a year ago. Dairymen are likely to have a moderately favorable spread between the price of feed and the price of dairy products.

According to Prof. Fluharty's summary of the records of these 28 typical walnut groves, the average investment per acre amounted to $1711.14, segregated as follows: trees $453.41; improvements $43.90; equipment $35.55 and land $1083. The value of the total citrus shipments was $5,540,075. This included $6,494,161 for oranges; $1,263,630 for lemons; and $732,284 for grapefruit.

For the eleven-month period beginning January 1, 1926, practically all of Canada's imports of fresh fruits came from the United States. Of the citrus imports this country furnished 93 per cent of the oranges and 59 per cent of the lemons, a considerable increase on the latter over previous years. Citrus fruit competition was keenest from Italy, which formed about 40 per cent (126,322 boxes) of the Canadian imports of that fruit.

CURTAILING OF CROPS URGED IN U. S. REPORT

Continuation of Low Prices For Cash Crops Predicted Unless Acreage Cut

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Cotton is not the only crop that should be curtailed this year, according to the annual agriculture outlook report of the department headed by Secretary Jardine. Livestock producers have in prospect a favorable year, the report says, but, with an average season, a continuation of relatively low returns from most cash crops is probable unless acreages are reduced.

The purchasing power of foreign countries for agricultural products of 1927 doubtless will show some improvement, but that does not mean that our exports will increase materially. On the contrary it is probable that larger foreign production of bread-stuffs, fruits and animal products will reduce foreign demand for our exportable surpluses of these products.

To chase away a little of the gloom that may be superinduced by these predictions the report says that a slightly larger supply of farm labor will probably be available in regions adjacent to industrial centers, and wages may be lower. No appreciable changes in prices of farm machinery and building materials are to be expected, but wholesale prices of farm products are expected to be lower than last year.

The new government, in the annual agricultural outlook report, is advising farmers to cut practically all other crops. Wheat growers are warned that they can hardly expect to receive returns for the 1927 crop similar to those which have prevailed for the 1926 crop, especially if production should be materially increased.

As to corn, the report says the demand for the 1927 crop is expected to be little if any greater than for the 1926 crop. With probably increases of corn acreage in the south and with no prospect of increased demand, growers are faced with the likelihood of lower prices unless acreage is substantially reduced.

Oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, hay, potatoes, sweet potatoes, cabbages, onions, beans, oranges, grapefruit, apples, peaches, grapes, strawberries, cantaloupes and watermelons are other farm products the production of which should be held steady or curtailed this season, according to the government experts.

Livestock production, it is stated, should be held at about the present level, allowing for the increase in population from year to year, in order to maintain prices. The dairy industry, on the other hand, is reported to be on a stronger basis than a year ago. Dairymen are likely to have a moderately favorable spread between the price of feed and the price of dairy products.

According to Prof. Fluharty's summary of the records of these 28 typical walnut groves, the average investment per acre amounted to $1711.14, segregated as follows: trees $453.41; improvements $43.90; equipment $35.55 and land $1083. The interest on these items at six per cent amounts to $101.15. The depreciation $32.75 per acre.

The average depreciable investment per acre in the study was valued at $1815.27, divided into trees, $6719.50; improvements, $1232.96; and equipment, $1233.91. The average depreciation on the above items for the farms surveyed were 4.71 per cent for trees, 5.05 per cent for improvements and 11.75 per cent for equipment.

The total income for 23 farms out of the 28 for 1926 was $34,048.76 or a per acre income of $95.74. The average selling price for the nuts, including all grades and sizes, was $1.25 per bushel.

The actual cash and labor expenses which the grower had to meet during the year averaged $63.76 per acre or 12.67 cents per pound for the small crop that was harvested. This was divided as follows: tree work (pruning, bracing, disease work) $4.59 per acre; cultivation (plowing, subsoiling, cultivation) $11.97 per acre; irrigation (furnishing, water, shoveling) $12.99 per acre; harvesting, $12.33 per acre; material $14.64 per acre; miscellaneous $4.34 per acre and general expense $2.25 per acre.

Total Cost of Production

The total cost per pound was unusually high for the period covered by the study, the average of 505 pounds per acre due to unfavorable climatic conditions in the early spring and winter of 1926
